Space Fires Remarkably Similar — House to Probe Apollo

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House team will probe the Jan. 27 fire that killed three U.S. astronauts after finding "a remarkable number of similarities" between the blaze and a later fire that fatally burned two airmen.

D.S.C. of the House Armed Services Committee ordered the investigation Tuesday after receiving a report that safety procedures were inadequate in tests at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., where the airmen received fatal burns four days after the astronauts perished in their space capsule at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

An investigative subcommittee of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton D-N.Y., and Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., reported Brooks officials didn't realize the extent of the danger of fire in a pure oxygen atmosphere. The capsule in both accidents were filled with pure oxygen.

The two said after an investigation at Brooks that foam rubber sponges were taken into the capsule despite a report officials there had received showing sponges material burns 60 times faster in oxygen than in air.

The congressmen also found that no one was watching outside the capsule in which A2C. William F. Bartley Jr. and A3C. Richard G. Harmon were burned Jan. 31. And the report noted there was no television monitor on the capsule.

The investigators also observed there were no carbon dioxide fire extinguishers outside the capsule. They concluded the airmen apparently had not been given instructions on use of two such extinguishers inside.

Their report found "a remarkable number of similarities" between the two fires. Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee perished when a fire flashed through their spacecraft as it rested atop its rocket during tests.

The subcommittee said there were some fire prevention measures in use at the Brooks tests, but added: "Nevertheless, our inquiry suggests that these procedures in light of what developed, not only at Brooks but also at Cape Kennedy, were in fact inadequate."

One Kept Open for Talks; Bomb Bays Stay in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources picture President Johnson as maintaining a constant course on Vietnam policy — willing to entertain peace overtures, but determined to continue the bombing of North Vietnam in their absence. They said Thursday Johnson feels the United States has neither hardened nor softened its attitude toward peace talks in recent weeks.

Those familiar with the President's views said he is convinced the Soviet Union wants peace restored in Vietnam and appreciates its efforts in this direction.

Meanwhile a longtime critic of U.S. military policy in Vietnam, retired Gen. James M. Gavin, said he believes internal turmoil in Red China offers a prime opportunity for ending the Vietnam war.

Gavin told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Red China's problems might make North Vietnam more willing to negotiate a settlement. He also warned that escalation of the war at this time could provide the Chinese with the basis for stabilizing its inner disorders, while responding to Hanoi's need for aid.

whip Russell B. Long of Louisiana said he hoped for an immediate vote.

Would Unleash Arsenal
— Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday night the nation should "turn loose" its entire arsenal and win a "total victory" in Vietnam. He made one reservation—he would not employ nuclear weapons "yet."

Rivers, speaking at a dinner dance of a chapter of the Air Force Association in New York, said: "I would bomb Hanoi so fast it would make your head spin." The association gave Rivers a 3½-foot-high trophy, featuring an eagle in an attack position and with an inscription calling him a "farsighted exponent of aerospace power both in fair weather and when the storms are gathering."

Note Loss in Thousands From Three Area Fires

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

Major fires in the business districts of Kerhonkson and Beacon and a diner blaze at Ellenville Tuesday night and early today caused damage estimated at "thousands and thousands" of dollars, resulted in injuries to at least five firemen and made three families homeless.

Firefighters from the city's three companies and Fishkill. The Kerhonkson fire was reported shortly after 4:50 a. m. at the three-story frame building on the main street, occupied on the ground floor by the Bait Bucket Shop and a taxicab office operated by Kenneth Osterhoudt, who reportedly purchased the property recently.

When the fire swept out of control Chief Manuel Samuels summoned aid from Accord. The upper part of the Osterhoudt building was gutted and the lower floors and business places were extensively damaged by water and smoke.

No estimate of the damage was reported. Ellenville fire units in command of Chief George Damms battled a fire in the kitchen of Firemen from those areas battled raging flames, and braved dense smoke and sub-freezing weather for hours before the fires at Beacon and Kerhonkson were brought under control. Outside assistance was summoned through mutual aid dispatchers in both areas.

The Beacon blaze, the fourth major one in Dutchess County this month, was fought by 150 firefighters from the city's three companies and Fishkill. A wall of water was directed between the burning building and the two-story frame structure about a foot away, which was owned by Henry Feinberg, operator of Feinberg's Kerhonkson Fire Service on Fordmore Avenue. Feinberg said "firemen did a wonderful job and saved my property." He said firemen were jammed early during the battle as two hoses reportedly burst.

Fireman Carl Myers suffered from smoke inhalation. Volunteer Neil McCauley sustained lacerations, it was reported by a business man.

The origin of the Kerhonkson fire was not immediately determined. Firemen were at the scene before noon.

Matching Funds, Interest Boost DeWitt Library Grant Near Cost

Financial arrangements for the Macdonald DeWitt Library under construction at the Stone Ridge site of Ulster County Community College were revealed today in the announcement that the library focal point of Phase I is nearing completion.

The $150,000 original grant made by DeWitt, one of the first trustees of the college, has increased by $20,884.13 in accrued interest, and with matching state and federal funds provides a total which almost completely finances the construction of the library.

DeWitt's gift was invested, and the original gift, plus accrued interest, was available to the county at such time as it should be needed to pay actual construction costs.

County Treasurer, Fred DuBois, this week received the balance of the fund, and reported to college officials that the original $150,000 had accrued $20,884.13 in interest during the three and one half years since DeWitt made his initial gift.

The final value of Macdonald DeWitt's gift is approximately $171,000. This amount, when matched with a similar amount from the state, and when added to about $240,000 of federal funds, provides a total which almost completely finances the construction.

DeWitt, who was appointed as one of the original trustees of the college, resigned from his position on the board last year, but was immediately honored by being named trustee emeritus of the college, and was again honored by the faculty by being named a member of the honorary faculty. The students at the college also paid their tribute to DeWitt by dedicating last year's edition of the College Yearbook, "The Forum," to DeWitt.

The Macdonald DeWitt Library is now about 75 per cent completed, and Augustus Schrowang Associates, College architects, anticipate completion of

GM Layoffs May Hit 100,000 in Parts Shortage

DETROIT (AP) — At least 80,000 General Motors Corp. assembly line workers today were marked for layoffs because of a parts shortage created by a wildcat walkout in Ohio.

Completed by Weekend

GM said a series of layoffs, to be completed by the weekend, will idle assembly lines in 22 of the firm's 23 auto production plants scattered across the nation.

"The 80,000 figure is conservative," a GM spokesman said. "It could hit 100,000."

The nation's biggest auto builder said its assembly lines would halt because the strike-bound Fisher Body plant in Mansfield, Ohio, no longer is producing parts.

The strike by 2,650 members of the United Auto Workers Union is in its seventh day, although the UAW's international officers, as well as GM, have condemned it as illegal. Neither side in Mansfield seemed ready to budge.

Some 2,300 members of striking Local 549 voted unanimously Tuesday night to continue the strike and local President Robert Hall said a return to work before a settlement is reached would be unthinkable.

GM officials said they would not negotiate until the strikers get back on the job.

The plant produces door panels, floor pans and other parts for GM cars. Without these parts GM workers cannot assemble a complete car.

Could Be Disastrous

A GM spokesman said "an extended strike could be disastrous. I guess up to 200,000 of GM's 375,000 jobs in the United States are involved in functions which need the parts we're already short of."

He said a long strike would lead to layoffs in related industries — production of sparkplugs, batteries, headlights and other automobile parts.

The strike stems from an incident last week in which GM officials told two men to move dies for 1968 model cars to a shipping dock. The dies were bound for GM's Fisher Body plant at Pontiac, Mich., for testing.

Refuse to Move Dies

The two workers refused to move the dies and GM suspended them.

GM said testing work normally is done at the Mansfield plant but in this case equipment for it was unavailable. Besides, a GM spokesman said, the firm has shifted such tests within the company previously.

The union talked, saving the action amounted to subcontracting within the corporation. Then 17 other members of the UAW local, including union officers, were suspended for what the company called contract violations.

That led to a general walkout.

Set Child Health Clinic Feb. 28th

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway on Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 9:30-10:30 a. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician must have written permission by that physician in order for this service to be offered by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

In order to avoid overcrowded clinics, an appointment is required for admission to these clinics.

Arrest Woodridge Man

Max Cohen, 35, of Woodridge, was arrested Tuesday by Ellenville state police on three counts of second degree forgery and three counts of possessing stolen property, according to Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes. The arrest was made by Senior BCI Investigator Charles Teelon and Investigator Michael Bonney. Cohen was committed to the county jail pending further court action.

Transfer Hurt Skier To Buffalo Hospital

Injured in a recent accident at Belleayre Mt. Ski Center at High Mount, Hans Truckenbrod, 14-year-old outstanding skier, was transferred Tuesday morning from Kingston Hospital to Children's Hospital, Buffalo, by Doctors Ambulance.

Truckenbrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Truckenbrod of Kenmore, is one of the leading speed skier's in his class, and has competed in Europe. His aim is to participate in the Olympics. The youth was injured when he recently collided with another skier. It was reported. He suffered a fractured femur.

To Face Firearms Charges in Saugerties

Accused of illegal possession of firearms, Kenneth Stokes, of 77 Montgomery Street, Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday by State Police. He was released pending a hearing on Thursday before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody, Town of Saugerties.

According to State Police Sergeant Charles Bunschuh, Stokes is accused of possessing guns he allegedly purchased recently from Joseph Young, 39, of Creeks Locks Road, Bloomington.

Young and a juvenile were taken into custody earlier this month on charges of possessing stolen property. The arrests were made by troopers in the course of an investigation of a burglary at a residence owned by Joseph Garguilo, Town of Saugerties.

USSR, Americans Agree on A-Ban Inspection Agent

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have told the European Common Market nations they can't police their own compliance with the proposed treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. Qualified sources at the 17-nation disarmament conference said this has emerged as one of the main obstacles to a treaty.

West Germany and Italy — supported behind the scenes by France — want supervision on their soil to be carried out by the six-nation European Atomic Energy Association — Euratom. The Soviet Union has denounced this as an attempt at "self-inspection". American negotiators seem to have accepted the Soviet view.

95-Nation Unit

In Soviet-American talks in New York over the past three months, the two nuclear superpowers agreed that the only acceptable controlling body was the 95-nation International Atomic Energy Agency — IAEA — based in Vienna.

When the disarmament talks resumed Tuesday following a six-month recess, U.S. delegate William C. Foster told newsmen "controls should be carried out by a wholly international agency able to look at safeguards throughout the world."

Foster said such an agency already exists in the IAEA "and we believe it should have the job of ensuring that peaceful (nuclear) products are not diverted to military purposes."

France, which boycotts the disarmament conference, has given notice it will not sign any nonproliferation treaty negotiated here.

As a nuclear military power, France would not be subject to controls in any case.

Despite the objections from West Germany, Italy and other countries, American officials are confident the treaty will be signed this summer.

West Germany and Italy object to IAEA controls on two main grounds:

They fear that IAEA inspectors could conduct industrial espionage on behalf of the Russians, who are members of the agency and they argue that the treaty setting up Euratom does not allow its members to submit to controls from any other body.

In a speech to the conference, Soviet delegate Alexei Roshchin said such objections were attempts to disrupt the negotiations.

Foster said some compromise would have to be worked out with the Euratom members to permit IAEA inspection. He stressed that this would still leave plenty of work for Euratom to do, such as distributing and supervising plutonium provided by the United States for the Common Market countries.

"We participated in the formation of Euratom," he said. "We have encouraged it and made a treaty with it. We are not attacking Euratom. Euratom does a number of things besides involving safeguards."

NEW REFLECTORS OR BLINKERS

If highway reflectors are to be used as a safety device to guide motorists in the operation of their motor vehicles, they should meet one simple but vital test: They should give motor vehicle operators ample warning of approaching changes in the highway pattern. This also applies to highway signs which in addition should be big enough to be readable, give clear and complete directions and give clear viewing.

The reflectors on 9W at the approach of the interchange at Route 209 intersection in Lake Katrine do not meet this prime test. These reflectors at this four-lane divided highway should be removed immediately and replaced with ones that are effective or they should be replaced by blinkers.

Earlier this month there was a highway fatality in this area when a car failed to follow the 9W divided highway about 300 feet north of the Route 209 intersection and crashed into the dividing guard rail.

Governor Rockefeller proposes a $2.5 billion bond issue for the completion of many new great highways in order to meet the state's needs.

The Federal government now is setting up rules for highway safety to include codes, signals, signs, design, construction and maintenance of highways.

Undoubtedly all this is essential, but we should not neglect safety factors on existing highways and roads whether in rural or urban regions.

If we are to reduce the appalling number of highway fatalities, we must consider the safety of highways and the effectiveness of their warning signals along with safer cars.

A CONCEPT OF UNION

George Washington's struggle and victorious achievement as commander of the Colonial forces in the Revolutionary War are the dramatic highlights of his unique contribution to our nation's history. It is on this period, and on his service as the first President of the United States, that attention is most commonly focused.

But in such a time as this, when bitter divisiveness over such questions as the Vietnam war and civil rights threatens to strain the fabric of national unity, it may be more appropriate to consider Washington's part in creation of what he called "an indissoluble union." He used the phrase often in letters to his friends between 1783 and the Constitutional Convention in 1787, urging upon them the vital importance of a better framework for national government.

For a time Washington thought that this might be accomplished by amendment of the Articles of Confederation, which had taken effect in 1781 after ratification by the 13 original states. But it soon became evident to him, as to other leaders, that a more cohesive document was required.

The idea of a Federal Convention took form during a meeting at Mount Vernon in 1785, and Washington heartily approved the call for an assemblage of the several states' representatives to "render the Constitution of the Federal Government adequate to the exigencies of the Union." Though Washington said little as presiding officer of the Convention, between sessions he made his views felt—and his influence was a powerful factor in bringing agreement and then ratification.

Washington had a firm grasp of the idea, and so eloquently expressed by Abraham Lincoln that the Union must be strong and supreme. It is something to bear in mind when we argue among ourselves about questions of national policy.

Friends of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are mystified over the withdrawal of a Gallup poll indicating that he was leading all other candidates for the 1968 republican presidential nomination. They do not accept the explanation that it is misleading because of wording.

President Charles de Gaulle's chances of holding control of the National Assembly in the coming parliamentary elections are good on statistics. As usual, his opposition is divided, with 2,500 candidates filing for

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
FOR A REAL CELEBRATION OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Isn't it a singular thing that the name of George Washington, the Father of His Country, is seldom if ever invoked by an American political party?

The Democrats hold Jackson Day dinners and prattle endlessly about Thomas Jefferson as their party's founder—and this despite Jefferson's extreme States' Rights position. The Republicans, of course, fan out over the country on Lincoln's Birthday to stress their affinity with the Savior of the Union. But no party politico ever seems to claim George Washington for his very own, although the old Federalist Party is surely as close to the modern Republican Party as Jefferson's original Democratic Republicans are to the party of Franklin Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon Johnson.

The superficial reason that Washington goes so largely unmentioned by the party politicians is that he tried to stand beyond partisanship. Our first President was a rather relaxed politician who wanted people to fend for themselves. But, with many Republicans supporting movements to return taxes to the separate states and to free the individual energies of the people to carry out voluntary enterprises for themselves, the cackle about Washington being above the political battle isn't good enough.

Since politicians go in so much for the Madison Avenue concept of image making, it is amazing that the more conservative Republicans don't latch on to George Washington as a patron saint of their party to put up their right beside Lincoln as an offset to the Democrats' Jefferson. Far more than Jefferson, Washington had a vision of what it would take to make the United States a strong and free nation. Jefferson, despite his experience in France, was bound by plantation and frontier horizons. He was, of course, fascinated by mechanical inventions, and he is credited with inventing the swivel chair and elaborating a workable dumb waiter, but he thought of inventions as aids to bureaucratic and domestic felicity, not as something to be exploited industrially.

Washington, on the other hand, had moved in the world of enterprise. His newer biographers—Bernard Knollenberg and James Thomas Flexner—make this deliberately plain. In his recent "George Washington: The Forge of Experience, 1732-1775," Mr. Flexner includes a fascinating account of Washington watching his Mt. Vernon carpenters trying to machine popular boards. The carpenters were intolerably slow. So Washington plunged in to see what motions could be eliminated, anticipating the time-study preoccupations of modern factory management by a full century.

Then there were Washington's worries over the cultivation of tobacco, which rapidly depleted the Potomac basin soil and got Virginia into balance of payments troubles with Britain in bad market years. Instead of seeking a political solution to his plantation problems, Washington experimented with other crops, particularly with wheat. Soon he was milling wheat into flour for other people going into the commercial milling business. He had experience in iron mining as well as with professional surveying, and he built up his own fisheries, selling shad by the thousand and herring by the hundred thousand. And always and forever he was a real estate operator.

His experiences as a business entrepreneur enabled Washington to appreciate the ideas of Alexander Hamilton, who wanted to put America on an industrial base. Washington wanted a country that would support its government, not a government designed to support the people.

So why don't those Republicans who prefer a Free Society to a self-consciously Great Society make use of the Washington image more than they do? It is surprising that our Everett Dirksen and our Melvin Lairds, our George Romneys and our Ronald Reagans, don't make more of a hero who could easily be turned into the patron saint of a revived Republican individualism. Jefferson was an idealogue, Jackson was the fashioner of a political spoils system, Lincoln was a man for a unique crisis. Washington, however, was not only the Father of His Country but the progenitor of a way of life that is wholly applicable to a modern free nation.

Some Minute Body Metals
Important, Some Harmful

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some trace elements—metals that are found in the body in minute amounts—play an important role in the body's chemistry. An exception is cadmium. We have none of this element in our bodies at birth and it is not essential to our proper functioning. Too much of it deposited in the kidneys is now believed to be one cause of high blood pressure.

This conclusion is based on the fact that in populations where high blood pressure is common (Japan and the United States) higher concentrations of cadmium are found in the kidneys and in the urine than in countries where high blood pressure is rare, such as central Africa. Although cadmium is not the sole cause of high blood pressure, it appears to aggravate this condition in persons with a hereditary tendency to develop it.

How does this cadmium get into the body? There is some evidence that soft water may pick it up from copper or galvanized iron pipes. Before you condemn all soft water, however, bear in mind that United States Public Health Service standards permit 10 parts per billion as a safe limit.

Other sources of cadmium include tea, coffee, oysters, and foods grown on soil in which phosphate fertilizers are used. These foods present a health hazard only when taken in excessive amounts.

The picture regarding another trace element—chromium—is quite different. This metal is found in the body at birth but the amount present falls rapidly in the first 10 years of life, then it levels off, especially in Americans compared with persons from the Oriental, African and Middle Eastern countries. This decrease in chromium level is associated with an increase in the prevalence of diabetes.

Chromium deficiency may be caused by eating highly refined sugar and foods that are superheated during processing. Chromium is present in natural sugar but refining not only removes the game of football, but he couldn't seem to comprehend who had the ball or, for that matter, which team. For the second time since last November, students of Columbia University in New York prevented an agent of the Central Intelligence Agency from conducting recruiting interviews. They object to the agency's work as "morally reprehensible." When a university permits college students to pass judgment on a key government agency, then something is radically wrong at the university.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A western senator says that more than 80 per cent of his negative mail on the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty mentions FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's view that the pact would make the bureau's counterespionage work more burdensome.

This senator expects to see the Hoover comment cited endlessly by treaty opponents, particularly those writing under inspiration from the right-wing Liberty Lobby. The lobby already has generated a substantial volume of hostile mail.

The treaty, signed in 1964 but still not ratified by the Senate, would permit the establishment of two or three Soviet consulates in the United States, in exchange for comparable privileges for this country on Russian soil.

Based on the almost certainly valid assumption that the Soviet embassy in Washington is a spy headquarters, it is being further assumed that consular offices would serve the Russians as key espionage outposts.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Radio is music. It is also an artistic news executed in neutral dictation. Thus, radio is now bigger and richer than ever. To a housewife dusting, it's a diversion. To a salesman in a car, it's someone to talk to him. To a kid, it's an earplug.

Once, radio was funny. Almost hilariously. Long ago, the Columbia University football games were broadcast by Mark Hellingger and Perry Charles. Charles was a lemon-head with a giggle. He weighed the same as a handful of feathers in a hurricane. Hellingger was a Broadway columnist with slick hair, a dark blue shirt and a white tie.

Columbia University, under Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, was as prim as a spinster in a disorderly house. The football team played at Baker Field, and, without degrading itself, played only members of selected colleges.

The team's water boy was a kid named Ted Husing. Distilled, of course — the water, not Husing. Somehow, the university permitted itself to engage Hellingger and Charles to broadcast the home games for a radio station with the call letters WHN. This was a contretemps on the order of slapping Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth on the hip and murmuring: "England may be low on gold, but you sure got a lot of lead."

Perry Charles understood the game of football, but he couldn't seem to comprehend who had the ball or, for that matter, which team. Hellingger, who spoke in a low-key snarl intended to be sexy, couldn't detect a Statue of Liberty play from a guy with a watermelon hailing a taxi. Still, they got a contract to broadcast the games. In the press box, on their right, was a leucid hysteric named Graham McNamee, who lifted more people out of their seats than "The Star-Spangled Banner."

He had a table full of microphones, representing radio stations all over the country. On Hellingger's left was another network broadcaster, a cautious codger named Ford Frick. He was a sportswriter who loved baseball.

One Saturday — and this is typical of all the others — Columbia was playing Virginia Military Institute. Game time was 2 p. m., so Hellingger and Charles arrived at 1:30 laden with all the items one needs for a football game — two tiffs of brandy, paper cups, lovely hangovers and heads full of nothing.

They squeezed through the members of the press and got to their table with its solitary microphone. They drank a little and discussed the sordid listeners

Hence Hoover's comment about added burdens. Though angry letter writers to Congress seem unaware of it, Hoover also has said, however, that he would not assert the FBI is "incapable of handling" the presumed extra counterspy effort.

The director is not saying it, but his much-cited concern may reflect the now-forgotten but sorry experience the United States had with German and Italian consulates in the immediate prelude to World War II.

who wrote to WHN saying that the columnist and the commentator were the world's funniest broadcasters. Sometimes, when Columbia made a first down, all Mark and Perry did was roar with delight and pour another drink.

Our sneaky friend McNamee has discovered a cute way of telling one player from another. He has drawn up a big sheet of paper with all the line and backfield positions of VMI on one side, and all the Columbia guys on the other. When a substitution is made, he erases and puts the new name in.

Hellingger shook his head sadly. "I never trust a guy who talks through his nose," he said. Then he filled a drink. "So let's try it." They got a big sheet of wrapping paper, placed all the VMI names on the left, and all the Columbia kids on the right. This called for two more paper cups.

It began to get warm out. They were gabbling and cursing each other into a live mike. Then the team captains tossed a coin and Columbia elected to defend the goal on the left. "We got it backwards," Hellingger said. Perry held his head. "What are we gonna do?"

Somehow, it did not occur to them to turn the paper around. Mark began to erase all the names, and switch them to opposite sides of the paper. They acquainted their listeners with this problem and ten minutes of the first quarter went by with nothing but muttered imprecations and roars from the crowd.

When it was straightened out, the first quarter was over. The teams changed sides, and Perry said: "Aw, the hell with it." He had to adjourn to the men's room. Mark said he wasn't going to be left alone. He and the brandy would join Mr. Charles. "How about the broadcast?" Hellingger said.

"A cinch," said Mr. Charles, and took the microphone from the table and placed it on Graham McNamee's desk. WHN listeners were astonished to find that they were now listening to NBC's star. Switchboards in both places began to light up.

Later, when McNamee was asked about it, he said: "I thought we just added another network." In ten minutes, Mark and Charles were back. Not knowing the score, or who was playing, they made up a great story about two mythical teams, Chillicothe and Miners Reserve, in a titanic struggle.

They had something sports announcers no longer have. "It's called aplomb, a bathroom fixture." (Copyright, 1967, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Says Nation Would Face Dire Danger Without Spy Network

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Many people throughout the United States are reading derogatory criticism or seeing cynical cartoons about the methods of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency. Few persons, however, know what the gathering of "intelligence" really means to the future of the nation itself.

To take an example, if an enemy country possesses nuclear weapons that could result in the sudden destruction of 130 million Americans, wouldn't it be worthwhile to get the facts and bring them to the attention of the military authorities in our own country so that countermeasures could be taken to prepare a defense system which would act as a deterrent against the carrying out of any such lethal plan?

Today America is in grave danger of potential attack by the Russians. Within the last year, the U. S. joint chiefs of staff learned through intelligence channels that the Soviets had started to build antimissile defenses around Moscow, Leningrad and other key population centers at the rate of a half-a-dozen each year.

The Russians, it turned out, had broken a pledge by ignoring the moratorium on nuclear explosions as they made some tests in 1961 and 1962 which encouraged them to go further with the development of their weapons. These tests were the most extensive ever conducted and convinced the Soviet leaders that what is known as an "antimissile missile" was worth building at once. Some important facts about the situation now have come out into the open, and members of the armed services committee in both houses of congress are urging the defense department to begin countermeasures.

It was not until after news articles were published last autumn telling the story of the antimissile system which the Soviets are building that the defense department itself confirmed the information. Congress now is confronted with the problem of spending 30 billion dollars, spread over the next few years, to build a defense system that could cut the total casualties in the United States in the event of war by at least 70 million lives.

It has just been published that 1952 was the year when the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency began to subsidize some student organizations affiliated with the National Student Association. This correspondent recalls a conversation in London that same year with a British Intelligence officer of high rank, who had been asked by the writer for an evaluation of intelligence systems of different countries in the world. The intelligence officer said:

"Your own intelligence work in the United States is in its infancy. It is going to take you 10 to 20 years to find out how to do the job effectively. It sometimes takes many years

Mac's Bombing Speech Provides LBJ Easy Out

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has put itself in a position where it can mollify the "hawks" and comfort the "doves" if it should decide to call off the bombing to get peace talks started in Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara laid the ground-work for it, intentionally or not, in testimony he gave senators last month although it wasn't made public until this week.

No Halt—No Peace
The North Vietnamese have demanded an end to the air war before any peace discussion can begin.

When the United States resumed the bombing of North Vietnam Feb. 13, after a six-day pause during the Vietnamese lunar new year, President Johnson gave various reasons.

He said the renewed bombing was necessary "in fairness to our own troops and those of our allies." He said he had hoped the pause would induce North Vietnam to seek peace but, instead, it used that period to supply its troops in South Vietnam.

The resumed bombing, as in the past, was restrained and not all-out, which didn't please the "hawks" who have called for far heavier bombing. At the same time it irked the "doves" who want no bombing done at all.

Bombing Failed
But McNamara told the senators the bombing of North Vietnam has failed to reduce significantly the infiltration of men and materials into South Vietnam.

And to those who want the bombing stepped up, McNamara gave this answer: There is no bombing he could conceive of in the future which would significantly reduce the flow of men and material into the south.

If now, under domestic and world pressure, the Johnson administration should stop the bombing as a condition for peace talks, it can tell the "hawks" it wasn't giving up much since the bombing didn't cripple the north anyway. At the same time it can argue it made a great concession to merely to establish lines of communication in certain parts of the world, and you Americans are just beginning. It will cost a good deal of money. But the job has to be done — and in secret."

It is, of course, as important to keep secret the mistakes sometimes made in intelligence work as it is to refrain from boasting about successes. Intelligence is a continuously secret operation. Yet a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is already proposing an open investigation of the CIA. This would indeed be a boon to the Soviets.

What possible benefit, it will be asked, can come from lining up American student organizations? What do such groups know about war operations or preparations? They may know very little, but they can find out a great deal if they become intimate with the students of enemy countries who assemble in meetings in various parts of the world. Sometimes there are students of Communist countries who want to defect. These contacts may be engaged in military service. Students may gather scraps of information which, when pieced together with data obtained in some other way, begin to make a case for efforts in pursuit of further intelligence.

Anybody who joins in CIA activities has to be sworn to secrecy all his life. It is amazing that anybody in such a National Student Association was so ill-advised as to make public what his own government is doing.

Gathering intelligence is as important as fighting at the battlefield. In its simplest form, the issue is whether the United States should keep up-to-date in collecting vital information to defend itself or take chances while an irresponsible enemy whips up its power to blackmail the other nations of the world. ward peace because McNamara also told the senators that, despite his reservations, he believes the air campaign had been successful when viewed against this country's stated objectives in bombing at all.

List Objectives

He listed these as the objectives: (1) increasing the morale of the South Vietnamese; (2) increasing the cost to the north for its infiltration; and (3) raising the political price paid by the north to continue the campaign in the south.

"Those were the stated objectives we had in mind," McNamara said. "And we have accomplished them."

Thus the bombing in one sense can be interpreted as a bargaining tool and in another, as a necessity. And, in turn, McNamara's testimony can be interpreted as presenting both views, just in case.

It is unlikely McNamara gave this testimony without first getting Johnson's approval since, while claiming success for the bombing in one way, it admitted the bombing was ineffective in some vital ways.

This admission gave ammunition to the critics opposed to any bombing.

Two-Edged Statement

On the face of it, McNamara's testimony can't be taken as preliminary to an intention by the Johnson administration to stop the air war without any signal from Hanoi that, once the bombing stops, peace talks can begin.

But, with McNamara's statement on the public record, the Johnson administration has a handy answer to the critics on both sides if and when it stops the air raids.

Troop 20 Court

Old Hurley Troop 20 held a Court of Honor Tuesday at the Hurley Fire Hall. Seventeen boys earned 22 awards.

William Schaff earned merit badges for cooking, soil and water conservation, nature, stamp collection, and coin collection; Tim McGuire for camping; Glen Littlefield for reading and Douglas Whitaker for music.

Thomas Harung, Ian Horowitz, Mark Rioux, Chris Conerton and John Miller were accepted into the troop in the rank of Tenderfoot.

Robert Botsford, Bruce Webster, Wayne Waligorski, William Lang, Gary Littlefield, Charles Bouton, John Walker, John Olive, Mark Stauble, Robert Johnston and John Gill were advanced to the rank of Second Class Scout.

John Mizel was advanced to the rank of First Class Scout. As a result of earning all of his merit badges William Schaff was advanced to the rank of Star Scout.

As a tribute to his quiet, unassuming manner with the boys Robert Lawton was awarded a symbolic megaphone.

After the formal ceremonies, scouts and their parents were entertained by a showing of Mr. Lawton's collection of slide pictures depicting Troop 20's scouting activities for the past two years.

Some of the other activities in which Troop 20 is participating at the present time are special classes in first aid conducted by John Mizel of Hurley, special classes in Indian lore conducted by Andre Puets of Hurley, and frequent weekend camp-outs for the boys to continue to qualify for advancement.

$2.4 Million Left

By Rochester Woman

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Miss M. Louise Kelly, a Rochester philanthropist, has left a $2,401,070 estate, according to a tax appraisal filed with Surrogate Michael L. Rogers.
Miss Kelly, who died in January, 1964, at the age of 89, willed more than $1 million of the sum to 12 institutions and to 43 individuals as beneficiaries.
The residue, after taxes, will be divided equally among the Association for the Blind, Highland Hospital and Genesee Hospital, all in Rochester.
The appraisal, filed Tuesday, listed $48,649.99 in state taxes and $249,301 in federal taxes.
Miss Kelly's father owned a box manufacturing company.
Her address was 90 Oxford St.

On National Problems

Romney Declares Tithe of Time Could Cure Ills

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Gov. George Romney of Michigan, on a political sortie through his boyhood homeland, called today for a national "tithe of time" to help solve this nation's ills.
In a speech prepared for delivery at a Republican luncheon in Idaho Falls he said "four hours—10 per cent of a 40-hour week—spent in well-conceived voluntary effort at the local level could reshape America faster than federal programs ever will."
Tithing usually refers to the voluntary contribution of one-tenth of one's income to a church.
Romney, a Mormon who believes in tithing—money or time—said a recent national survey showed that more than 61 per cent of adult Americans said they would give four hours a week to productive citizen service.
"These 245 million man-hours would equal the total output of the automobile, food processing, railroad, department store and clothing industries," he said.
This was Romney's second day of visiting friends and landmarks of the past while assessing future political support in two home states.
Two former homes and the grade school where he was valedictorian were on the "remember when" itinerary. Politicking in southeast Idaho was scheduled for a convocation at Ricks College in Rexburg and a dinner at Idaho State University in Pocatello.
Romney made the most of Monday in Utah defending his religious convictions and running hard against the Johnson administration.
He chose the heartland of his family and church to tackle a religious issue that without question will repeat itself if he does make a race for the presidency. His Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints refuses the priesthood—open to all white males over 12—to Negroes.
"If my church prevented me from working to eliminate social injustice and racial discrimination—as I have for 25 years—I would not belong to it," Romney told the Salt Lake City Ministerial Association. "but that's not the case."
He stressed his own record on civil rights.

Urged to Make False Translation Of Baez' Remarks

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese television producer said today he was asked by an American to make false translations of political remarks made by American folk singer Joan Baez during her recent visit to Japan.
Japanese newspapers reported that the producer, Ichiro Takasaki, told them he was "pressured" by an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency named Harold Cooper, but after this was published Takasaki said: "I don't know exactly whether he was in the CIA, CIE or something. I'm a musician."
The U.S. Embassy denied that any employee of the U.S. government had attempted to interfere with the singer during her tour of Japan last month. A spokesman said it had no employee named Harold Cooper.
The producer denied he was pressured into mistranslating Miss Baez' remarks. But he admitted he was approached by a "Harold Cooper" who asked that Miss Baez's political remarks be mistranslated.
Takasaki denied press reports he made the mistranslations because he feared that by angering Cooper he would jeopardize business trips he makes to the United States.

Refuse to Approve New Campus Editor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A University of Michigan publications board—in a break with tradition—refuses to accept the recommendation of the campus newspaper's staff for its next student editor.

The faculty board, by a vote of 7-4 Tuesday, rejected the student nomination of Roger Rapoport, 20, a junior from Schenectady, N.Y.

Prof. Luke Cooperrider of the university's Law School and chairman of board, said in a statement that Rapoport was "unacceptable as editor" of the Michigan Daily. He did not elaborate.

When Rapoport was told that he was turned down, he commented: "I think basically that the board's decision was prompted by a series of stories I wrote."

The board reached its decision after an all-night meeting. It was reported by one campus official that it was the first time in 25 years that the board had rejected the Daily's recommendation for an editor.

Rapoport had been involved in reporting and writing several articles that became subjects of controversy, including a story that questioned business connections of a Board of Regents member.

NEW SKULL section was made of plastic for Navy Machinery Repairman Allan Smith, who was injured in an accident aboard the USS Proteus. A portion of his skull had to be removed following the accident, and this man-made section was made to replace the missing part.

Prospect Street Job Slated, To Study Planning Criteria

In addition to discussing salary increases for local patrolmen, the placement of traffic barriers, dumping in a local ravine and the renaming of the municipal beach, as reported on the front page of this paper Tuesday, the Saugerties Village Board gave its attention to other matters at a meeting Monday night.

Baptist Church to Hear Alaskan Missionaries

The Rev. and Mrs. George Blood will be special speakers during the Prayer Service to be held in First Baptist Church of Saugerties Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. and Mrs. Blood are missionary appointees with the Baptist Mid-Mission to Alaska. The public is invited.

Sunday 9:45 a. m., Sunday school with classes for all ages. At 11 a. m., worship service. The Rev. Brooks N. Henry will speak on "Where Are the Nine?" Beginner and primary church during the sermon period. A nursery is provided. At 6 p. m., Trustees will meet, as will the Berean Youth Fellowship. This is a training hour for all Junior and Senior High School young people. At 7 p. m., evening service. The pastor will speak on "The Security of Salvation. Evening service will conclude with the ordinance of Christian Baptism. At 8:10 p. m., choir rehearsal. Monday, 7 p. m., Pioneer Girls. Tuesday, 7 p. m., Christian Service Brigade.

proved in the Washington Hook and Ladder Fire Company. They were Albert Short and Lowell Miller. The board also granted exempt papers to Edmund Lewis Jr.

Permission was also given to the Saugerties 4-H Club to use Donlon Auditorium for a square dance on the evening of April 1, from 8 p. m. to 12 midnight, at the request of a group of 4-H women, who attended the meeting.

Trustee Gregory Mulstey reported that the local Woman's Club will invite all seventh and eighth grade students of St. Mary School and all seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils of Saugerties Central Schools to participate in a poster contest in connection with Cleanup Week in the village. Awards will be made.

Streets Commissioner Maurice Clements told the board that it will cost approximately $1,200 for materials to change the sewer line on Prospect Street from the six inch variety to the 10-inch type. He noted that the State Department will definitely replace the old line with a larger one. When this work gets underway and while the street is dug up, Central Hudson will be notified that it would be an auspicious time to make any repairs that company might have in mind while the sewer line installation is in progress. Village Clerk James Gage also will contact the Water Department to advise them of a like opportunity to make any necessary replacements and repairs in the water main while the street is opened.

Parks Commissioner Richard Underhill said he will attempt to have a utility outlet installed at the local skating rink so that electricity will be available for use at the rink when ice skating is possible.

Mayor Cornelius Cox read a letter from Robert Rightmyer, chairman of the Village Planning Board, advising that a meeting will be held March 23 with representatives of various local organizations in an effort to establish a criteria toward local planning. Members of the Village Board were asked to attend this session, which is considered an exceptionally important one.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The White House was designed by the Irish-born architect James Hoban in a competition that paid $500 for the best design. The 18-acre site for the Chief Executive's residence was chosen by President Washington, although he never lived in the house. The cornerstone for the building was laid Oct. 13, 1792, and John Adams was the first president to occupy the White House. Mrs. Adams sometimes hung her washing in the uncompleted East Room.

Trinitymen Move 5 Games in Front In Dartball Play

Golden Eagles, the team that has been trying doggedly to edge up on Trinity in Saugerties Dartball League play, slipped a notch on the ladder in games Monday night. Trinity has now stretched its first place lead over the Eagles to five games.

League statistics provided an interesting coincidence after scores were entered in the record book this week. They showed the standings on the top and bottom rungs of the ladder reversed. Trinity has won 40 games and lost only 14, while Southside Men's Club, the cellar team, has won only 14 and lost 40 games.

Two sweeps resulted from Monday's competition. Trinity trounced High Woods by a score of 3 to 0 and American Legion did the same to Southside Men. All over games played resulted in 2 to 1 splits, with Quarryville besting the Golden Eagles; Centerville Vols rolling over Centerville; West Camp triumphing against Malden-West Camp Vols and Saugerties Contractors beating Cementon.

See Ski Movies At Club Meeting

Movies of the countryside, including many scenes filmed at local ski areas, were shown by Harold Wilfert at a meeting of the West Saugerties Community Club last week. The session was held at the home of Anna Yakin, secretary, and Wilfert himself starred in portions of the movie, displaying his talents on the slopes.

Angeline Richards, president, opened the meeting with a salute to the flag, and members welcomed a new family to the area. Mr. and Mrs. I. Carey and children, formerly of Westside, N. Y., and now owners of the former Edna Diehl property.

Following the business session, the president read a poem entitled "Don't Quit," which had been composed and printed at a Trappist Abbey in Kentucky.

Announcement was made that a covered dish supper will be held at the Yakin's residence on Friday, March 17, at 6:30 p. m. Following the meal, members will celebrate St. Patrick's night and entertainment will be provided.

The highlight of last week's meeting came when Wilfert unreeled films of members as they looked several years ago. Laughter greeted each face flashed on the screen and many found it hard to believe that they changed so much in recent years.

Lions on the Line

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (AP)—Apologizing for the recent late arrival of the night train to Morogoro, deep in Tanzania game country, East African Railways claimed lions were to blame. The driver picked out the pride in his spotlight as they straddled the line. So hard did he jam on his brakes that a carriage was derailed. One lion was run over and killed. The rest prowled around angrily, preventing repair work and delaying the train for six hours.

If you thought Pontiac was coming out with just another sports car, you don't know Pontiac!

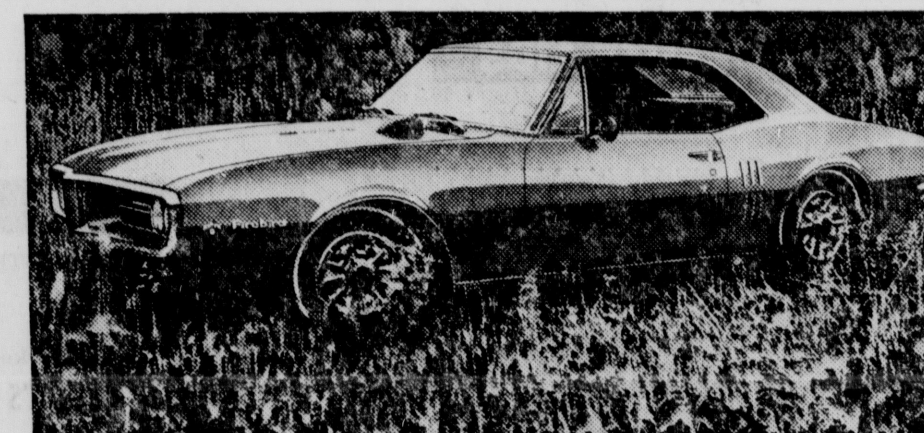

Pontiac announces not one, two, three or four, but five magnificent new Firebirds for every kind of driving.

Now you can choose from five new Firebirds with the same advanced Pontiac styling, but with five entirely different driving personalities. And they all come with supple expanded vinyl interiors, wood grain styled dash, exclusive space-saver collapsible spare, bucket seats, wide-oval tires and GM's standard safety package.

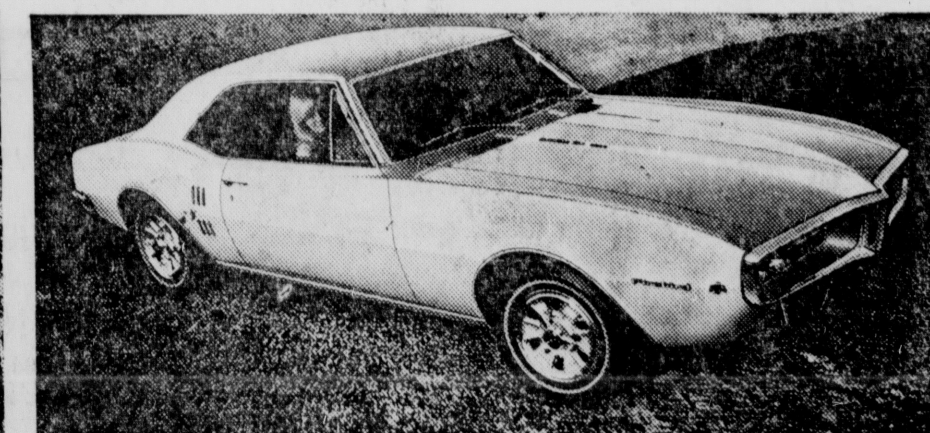

Firebird HO. HO stands for High Output. As a split second behind the wheel will attest to. The Firebird HO boasts a 285-hp V-8 with a four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and sport striping. Standard stick is a column-mounted three-speed. Naturally, all Firebird options such as Rally wheels and gauge cluster are available.

Firebird Sprint. Now you don't have to go to Europe for a sophisticated road machine. Firebird Sprint's standard motivation is a 215-hp version of our eager Overhead Cam Six. It's mounted on special suspension that practically welds it to the road. (Any road!) With a floor-mounted all-synchro 3-speed and special emblems.

Firebird 326. Is there room for a family in a sports car? There is now. The Firebird 326 combines the excitement of a sports car with the practicality of a 326 cubic inch V-8 that delivers 250 hp on regular gas. (Yes, we said 250!) Standard transmission is an all-synchro three-speed, but you can order an automatic.

Firebird. This is our economy Firebird—with the same exciting options and interiors as the more exotic ones. Its Overhead Cam Six squeezes 165 hp from regular for inexpensive fun driving. See and drive all five Firebirds at your authorized Pontiac dealer's.

The Magnificent Five are here!

Malta Defers Move On Troop Ouster

VALLETTA, Malta (AP) — Malta's Parliament deferred action Tuesday night on a bill to oust British troops from the island to permit Prime Minister Borg Olivier to hold further talks with British officials in London.

The threat to drive all British troops from the Mediterranean island was made in retaliation to a British plan to remove 3,000 of its 4,500-man garrison. The Maltese said that would cause widespread unemployment and economic hardship among the 6,000 civilians employed at the British bases.

Ky Declines Bid For Presidency

BIEN HOA, South Vietnam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today he would not be a candidate for president under Vietnam's new constitution.

The premier was questioned by newsmen when he left 3rd Army Corps headquarters here after a brief visit.

Ky smiled and said "no" when asked if he would be a candidate for the highest elective office under a new constitution which is now being written for South Vietnam. He has reversed his position on his possible candidacy several times in recent months.

Informed sources insist that either Ky or Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu will run for president in elections scheduled for later this year. These sources said the two top military leaders are not likely to run against one another but will probably come to an agreement on which one will be the candidate.

To Approve Hike
In Limit of Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration seems assured today of getting the $6 billion increase in the national debt it has urgently sought although congressional details still must be hammered out.

The Senate voted 54 to 23 Tuesday to hike the debt ceiling from $330 billion to $336 billion. Passage followed brief debate.

But the Senate version contained one important change in the measure passed by the House two weeks earlier, so a conference between the two houses will be necessary. Each named its conferees Tuesday.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who will head the Senate delegation, said he hoped this meeting could be held Thursday. He noted that Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has advised Congress he must have the new ceiling by the end of February or he cannot pay all the government's March bills. The Senate voted for a permanent limit of $336 billion, $51 billion over the present permanent ceiling of $285 billion. The House followed the Treasury's recommendation in providing a $336 billion temporary limit, $6 billion over the $330 billion temporary figure which has been in effect since last July 1.

Rondout Rescue Squad Sets Monthly Meeting

The Rondout Valley First Aid and Rescue Squad will hold its regular monthly meeting at the squad building in High Falls, Monday, at 8 p. m. The meeting scheduled this past Monday was postponed due to the weather.

Persons interested in joining the squad either as a driver, first aider or auxiliary member are invited to attend.

The Red Cross advanced course will begin Sunday at 7 p. m. in the squad building. Any persons who do not know the location of the squad building are advised to contact Mrs. Harriet Weber in High Falls.

Tickets for the spaghetti dinner are now available. The dinner is scheduled for March 11 at 6 p. m. at the High Falls Fire Hall.

Rio Counts 19 Dead in Storms

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—With 119 known dead from two days of floods and landslides, rescue teams worked today to reach 150 more bodies believed buried beneath the wreckage of a house and two apartment buildings in a Rio suburb.

Authorities said 4,000 persons were homeless in the city after 30 hours of torrential rains that began Saturday.

The newspaper Correio da Manhã predicted that the fatalities in Rio and the surrounding area would reach 500.

Termed Critical After Shooting Himself, 3 Others

NEW YORK (AP) — A 21-year-old Brooklyn man — booked on homicide charges in the shooting of his mother, aunt and 5-year-old half-brother — was reported in critical condition today with two self-inflicted rifle wounds in the chest.

Police said the accused man, Larry Saunders, used a rifle also in the slayings at his mother's home on Monday.

Censors Order Some 'Ulysses' Snipping

LONDON (AP)—The British Board of Film Censors has ordered 29 portions of dialogue and two scenes snipped from the movie version of James Joyce's novel "Ulysses," which premieres March 14 in Britain.

The film's American director, Joseph Strick, complained Tuesday night that Britain is "the only country in the world where I have been forced to make cuts." He said one of the eliminated scenes showed a couple making love and the other had undertones of voyeurism.

Strick said the dialogue cuts, about 400 words, would be printed in a leaflet and given the audience before the movie started so they would not be "cheated of the full experience."

Frustration in seeking his estranged wife, Gloria, 20, may have led to the triple slaying, police said. The couple has two infants.

Saunders shot himself Tuesday in his mother-in-law's apartment as a detective was breaking in the door, police said.

Detectives learned that Saunders visited his mother, Mrs. Bernice Hunter, 41, Monday in her apartment in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn.

Five detectives tracked him Tuesday to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Mae Brewster, in the Bushwick section, where he had gone seeking his wife. As a detective was breaking in the door of Mrs. Brewster's apartment, two shots were heard, police said.

Saunders was found lying wounded on a bed, police said. Also in the apartment were Mrs. Brewster, a daughter and a grandson.

Sorry About Mother

Mrs. Brewster told police that Saunders had said to her, "I'm sorry I shot my mother," and then shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle.

He was taken to Kings County Hospital.

In addition to Mrs. Hunter, those slain Monday were her son, Luther Hunter Jr., 5, and her sister, Mrs. Leah H. Laughlin, 44, of Jamestown, N.Y., who had been visiting the Hunter family.

The bodies of the victims — each shot several times — were found by Mrs. Hunter's 61-year-old husband a truck driver's helper, when he arrived home from work.

Police said Saunders is one of three sons of Mrs. Hunter by a previous marriage.

The Hunter home is at 1324 Carroll St.

Mrs. Brewster's home is at 125 Moffat St., which Saunders gave police as his address.

Mrs. Laughlin lived at 16 Valley St., Jamestown.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Hi There:

Move in close gals, so I can tell you what I just discovered quite by accident. It works like a miracle and I don't even know why . . .

I had some cigarette burns on my 100 per cent nylon carpet. While walking through the living room one morning I happened to have a plastic ruler in my hand. Holding it as one would a knife, I stooped over and rubbed a scorched spot very briskly with the corner of the plastic ruler. The scorch was immediately removed!

Was I amazed!

On another spot where a cigarette had literally burned to the back of the rug, all the nap was gone.

I then went to a corner of the carpet where it wouldn't show and pulled out a few of the fibers with a pair of tweezers. Putting some good glue in the burned hole in the rug, I mashed the fibers down into the carpet and pressed it hard with my hand. Then I put a small piece of waxed paper over it and weighted it down with a book.

Man, alive, was I ever happy! You might try it on whatever kind of rug you have, if it has a scorch or burn. You have nothing to lose, as the damage has already been done.

Heloise

P.S. Since then, I bought a decent ashtray that will really hold a cigarette. Preventive measures, you know . . .

Dear Heloise: I never throw away a large tablecloth that is torn. I cut it down to a smaller size (bridge or whatever) and make matching napkins from the left over material.

Old tablecloths also make nice kitchen towels. They are so soft and usually lint free.

Mrs. H. Zager

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise: For ages, I have tried to get rid of a certain old rusty wastebasket. I've put it out with trash in it, trash on it, and trash completely surrounding it in the big can.

No matter how cleverly I camouflage it, after the collector is gone, there sits the can!

Jeanie

Dear Heloise: I always use canned biscuits which are quite small, but my husband likes his biscuits "man-size".

I solved this problem by pressing two biscuits together (one on top of the other).

This makes a double biscuit which can be separated easily.

The first time I tried this, my husband thought my biscuits were "homemade!"

Mrs. Gerald Sholes

Dear Heloise: You know what a task it is to polish between the tines of forks? Try keeping a pipe cleaner attached (use a rubber band) to your silverware polish jar or bottle. Just dip the pipe cleaner in the polish and shine away between those pesky tines!

Corrine

Dear Heloise: I think many of us have times of feeling depressed and let-down.

I keep a box of cards that my friends have sent to me on different occasions. When I feel depressed, I sit down and read these cards slowly.

It brings back many happy memories and I know that I am loved. That is all I need to start me laughing and being happy again.

I hope your many readers will try this . . . it's better than tranquilizers!

Bertha Freedman

Dear Heloise: I almost flipped when I read in your column about growing the carrot top ferns by slicing the butt end off, putting in water and using them to look at.

Salt a sprig of the carrot top fern—then taste it!

Real good in salads (with other greens).

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

About 500,000 earthquakes occur every year but only 1,000 are strong enough to cause any damage, says The World Almanac. The exact cause of quakes is not really known but most scientists believe that they result from massive shifts of the earth's crust along fracture or fault lines. When one side of the fracture line either drops or raises, tremendous waves of energy are released that shake the earth.

New Paltz Association Sets Committees, Plan Future at Meet

NEW PALTZ — Formation of committees and discussions of future events were highlights at a business meeting of the New Paltz Art Association held recently at the Elting Memorial Library.

Myra Gerald, president, spoke of plans for the annual spring art show, to be held May 7-10 at the Gallery of the College's Fine Arts Building.

Also discussed, in addition to the 19th Annual Association Art Show, was a rotating exhibit at the Medical Associates of New Paltz building on Sunset Ridge.

Named to committees at the meeting were John Guttam, hanging; Miss Edith Holt, catalog, and Miss Lucille Stephens, Mrs. Marion Pine and Miss Holt, invitations. Appointed to other committees were Mrs. Carney Fisher, tea arrangements; Mrs. Marion Pine, Miss Myra Gerald and Mrs. Lois Ackert, member notification.

The association holds classes each Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Fine Arts Building as part of the adult education program. Alexander Martin, of the college faculty, is instructor with classes scheduled to continue through March.

Mrs. Logan to Head Paltz Heart Drive

Mrs. John Logan, named campaign chairman for the 1967 Heart Fund Drive in New Paltz, expressed the hope this year's drive will surpass last year's when "the people of New Paltz contributed $1,119" to the heart fund drive.

The Heart Sunday Volunteer Corps has been collecting funds in New Paltz for the drive.

At Assembly Program

Maurice and Carol Phillippi presented a program entitled Physical Fitness through Rhythms at an assembly for grades seven through 12 at New Paltz High School Feb. 17. The Phillippis have performed throughout the United States and in Europe, Russia, Central America, and the Caribbean Islands. They have also appeared on many television programs in this country.

The young artists presented the various dance forms used through the ages, and pointed out the similarities with those of today. Their demonstration of such dances as the jitterbug, Charleston, Big Apple and Viennese waltz, as well as more modern dances such as the Frug, showed the physical vigor, agility and coordination dancing requires.

Winter Concert Set

The music department of the New Paltz Central School is preparing its annual winter concert. This year the performance will take place on Thursday, March 2, in the auditorium of the central school at 7:30 p. m.

Organizations appearing on the program will be the sixth grade chorus, senior singers, girls ensemble and concert choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Bond, and the high school intermediate and concert bands directed by Paul N. Steiner. There is no admission charge and the public may attend.

Committee to Study Aid State Can Give Colleges

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will name in about a week five "eminent authorities" to study how government can help private colleges without hurting their independence.

The governor told the third annual conference of college and university trustees Tuesday that the five-man committee is needed to help plan a balance between public and private higher education in the state.

Abolish Law Inevitable
At a wide-ranging news conference before his speech, he said reform of the state's abortion law "was bound to come."

A controversial bill in the Legislature to liberalize the law appears to have little chance of passage. The governor repeated he is in favor of liberalization, but that it was the Legislature's job to decide how to do it.

"Public opinion has changed on this issue and public opinion is reflected by the action of the legislature sooner or later," he said.

Rockefeller set March 28 as the date for a special election to fill the seat of Democratic Sen. Eugene Rodriguez, who lost it when he was convicted recently of perjury and attempted grand larceny.

He represented the 29th Senatorial District, two-thirds of which is in the South Bronx and one-third in Manhattan's East Harlem.

After Election
The current session of the Legislature might end soon after the special election, Rockefeller noted. In justification, he said a special session was always a possibility.

"In any case, I don't think the people of that district should lack representation for the rest of the year," he said.

Plans for establishing the committee to study the future of private colleges and universities was first announced by the Board of Regents Jan. 9.

Rockefeller said Tuesday the committee would consist of:

— "How can our vital private and independent institutions for higher education be further encouraged and strengthened in the decade ahead?"

— "How can these private resources be appropriately related to our expanding public institutions?"

Specific Aid
— "What further specific aid should the state provide in the context of existing and potential federal, state and local financing?"

— "Can this be done and their full independence maintained?"

Some education officials have been worried that private colleges and universities, which depend on raising funds from private sources, might be fatally hurt by the growth of state and city colleges and universities.

Rockefeller has noted this concern. "I look to the new select committee to help us chart the course of a balanced higher education establishment for the years ahead," he said.

Rusk Hopeful For Summit of America Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just back from Buenos Aires, Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he thinks all the omens favor the holding of a summit conference of presidents of the American nations in mid-April.

He is to report to President Johnson today.

"I think there will be one and it will be a successful one. Rusk said Tuesday night after his plane touched down at Andrews Air Force Base.

The secretary of state had been away from Washington eight days to attend a meeting of foreign ministers in Buenos Aires at which considerable attention was given the proposed meeting of the presidents two months from now.

Punta del Este, Uruguay, has been selected tentatively as the site for the gathering.

Million Dollar Bookmaking Raid Staged in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Authorities led by State Attorney Richard Gerstein sledgehammered their way into a luxurious North Miami home Tuesday night and shattered what Gerstein said was a nationwide multimillion-dollar bookmaking operation.

Authorities arrested Martin P. Kane, 44, who Gerstein said had just accepted more than $250,000 in bets over the phone in two hours before the raid.

He said Kane's operation at 2122 NE 122nd Rd., was part of the national bookmaking empire of Gilbert L. Beckley, 55, who was arrested on gambling charges in Nassau County, N.Y., two weeks ago.

Gerstein was accompanied by two of his own investigators and three men from Nassau County, including Dist. Atty. William Cahn who supplied the information that made the raid possible.

Kane, described by Gerstein as "a bookie's bookie," was charged with operating a gambling house and bookmaking.

Raiders said letters found in the home and a car parked across the street belonged to Beckley, described by Cahn as the boss of a nationwide bookmaking setup taking on $100 million a year in the New York area alone.

Cahn said records seized in Kane's bedroom indicated he was taking bets on college and professional basketball games.

Recovered slips indicated $14,000 in wagers on one college basketball game alone, authorities said.

Vietnamese Students Coming Here to Study

SAIGON (AP) — A hundred Vietnamese students, 35 of them war veterans, left for the United States today for study financed by the American aid program.

On the same plane were 12 teachers and officials who will make a 12-week observation tour of elementary schools in the United States and Formosa.

The students' scholarships and all living and travel expenses are being paid by the U.S. Agency for International Development. They are to be trained to assume responsible positions on their return to Vietnam.

The students, 17 to 32 years old, were chosen from more than 1,200 applicants. After an intensive six-month course in English in the California state educational system, they will attend universities in various parts of the United States.

The wide range of pedigreed animals exported by England for breeding includes 20 varieties of cattle, sheep, pigs and farm horses.

Radio Editorial Influenced Case, Attorney Claims

A radio editorial figured in a city court case today when an attorney cited it for possible influence.

On the docket was the case of Samuel Levine, of 410 Pearl Street, who had recently been charged with a dog ordinance violation with a claim that he had permitted a dog to run at large.

Disqualified Self
Former Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy, appearing for Levine, said in effect that the court had been compromised because of the editorial.

Murphy replaced the firm of Ewig & Beck, who disqualified appearance, because George A. Beck is a special city judge.

City Judge Hubert A. Richter said the editorial had no influence on the court and that the information citing the charge spoke for itself. He said no check had been made with him or court records to be given as a basis for an editorial.

The editorial mentioned, it was noted, in effect, predicted that the local court would disqualify itself in hearing the case and it would be heard elsewhere.

Complaints against Levine are Janet Turk, Mrs. James Andretta and George Kakoulis, all of Pearl Street. The charge was lodged earlier this month.

Case Adjourned
It was noted that one of the complainants was on vacation and the case was adjourned to Feb. 28. Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher indicated he was unaware of who was to appear today for the defendant.

Murphy said he "was ready to proceed with the case today and emphasized that adjournment was not upon his request.

Pope Proclaims Year of Faith

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today proclaimed a "Year of Faith" for Roman Catholics to commemorate the 19th centenary of the martyrdom of St. Peter and Paul.

In a letter to all his bishops, the pontiff ordered special religious celebrations and prayers in every church, parish, seminary, religious house and Catholic home.

He announced that the celebration would start June 29, the feast day of the two apostles, and would last until June 29, 1968.

The Pope appealed to non-Catholic Christians to join in the commemoration.

He did not specify what he thought would be suitable.

Pope Paul acknowledged that the exact date of martyrdoms could not be fixed, saying they occurred in Rome during Nero's persecutions of 64-68. He said he was following the example of Pope Pius IX, "who wished the solemn commemoration of St. Peter's martyrdom to be held in the year 1867."

He called on all Roman Catholics for "a single profession of faith." He said he hoped the centenary would stimulate full awareness by Catholics of their faith and that they would purify and strengthen it.

"We cannot fail to know that the present time shows there is great need of this," he added.

This was an apparent allusion to much of the ferment and change inside the church since the Vatican Ecumenical Council, including recent defections by priests leaving the church to marry.

Gets Credit for Time
Harry Haslam, 17, of 35 East Strand, charged with violation of probation, was sentenced to 30 days in jail in city court today. He had been in custody since late January and was given credit for time served.

Laborites Easy Poll Winners in Jamaica Voting

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Jamaica's Labor party easily retained control of the government in the general election Tuesday, but the voting marked the end of a political era for the young island nation in the Caribbean.

Returns Tuesday night gave the generally conservative Laborites at least 31 of the 53 seats in Parliament to 19 for the People's National party. A communications breakdown delayed returns for the other three seats.

The Laborites had 26 of the 45 seats in the old Parliament.

The results brought down the curtain on a sometimes bloody and violent political period dominated by two men: Laborite Prime Minister Sir William Alexander Bustamante, 84, and his first cousin, Norman Washington Manley of the People's party, who will be 74 next July 4.

The two men forged Jamaica's fight for independence from the British, finally achieved in 1962. Bustamante's announcement in January that he would retire precipitated the election.

The election had appeared to offer Manley a good chance — perhaps his last — at the premiership he held from 1955 to 1962. But the defeat was one of the most lopsided his party had suffered in five ballot tests with the Labor party since 1944, the year universal adult suffrage was instituted.

Despite the sharp setback, the gray-haired, blue-eyed old man told newsmen in a steady tone he was not yet through with politics and refused to concede defeat.

RFK Says Critical Time of Recent Peace Bid Ended
NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said today that the critical time concerning peace in Vietnam, of which he had spoken recently, "is over."

However, he was cut short in his statement at La Guardia Airport before boarding the Kennedy family twin-engine plane Caroline for Gens Falls.

Newsmen reminded Kennedy that during his recent trip abroad he had said "the next few weeks will be crucial and critical" for the war in Vietnam because of developments then taking place.

Kennedy made the statement first on Jan. 30 when he arrived in Paris.

Questioned about that period this morning, he said, "I think that time is over. I am going . . ."

At this point the Senator was interrupted by a member of a TV camera crew who asked that he come before the camera.

Kennedy then decided to say no more before departing.

Kennedy was also asked for comment on Lieut. Gen. James M. Gavin's suggestion that U.S. bombing of North Vietnam be halted unconditionally as a first step towards a settlement.

"I will make a speech on that," the senator said.

Kennedy is scheduled to speak at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, participate in a community action conference and workshop including representatives of eight upstate counties at Lake George and attend a five county Democratic Party fund raising reception in Saratoga Lake.

Value of Rail Line From China Cited by Pentagon
WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam relies heavily for supplies on a 100-mile rail line from Red China which has withstood repeated U.S. bombing attacks, Pentagon sources report.

The Communists received thousands of tons of Soviet-made aircraft and weapons over the railroad, extending north-eastward from Hanoi into China, and protect it with 1,100 anti-aircraft guns.

Because the railroad is a vital supply link with other Communist countries, Hanoi now is seeking to enhance its capability by converting the line from narrow gauge to China's standard gauge.

7-Year-Old Terms Flying of Paper Airplanes Silly

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelle Piel, age 7½, surveyed the solemn panel of aviation experts craning to follow the flight of a paper airplane and pined. "It's silly. It's just for advertising."

Ignoring his precocious child, Gerard Piel gave a duckish grin and said, "We did this for the sheer joy of it."

Piel, publisher of Scientific American magazine which sponsored the first international paper airplane competition, said he was enchanted with the response to the contest.

Drew Many Entries
The highly publicized affair drew entries from 48 states and 25 foreign countries. They ended up Tuesday in a final "fly-off" at the Hall of Science, a leftover from the New York World's Fair.

Impartial launchers sent the craft culled from 10,941 entries soaring, sailing — and sometimes simply sinking — before eight judges.

The contest was billed as a scientific outlet for inventive children and bored corporate executives whose products had previously flown no farther than the nearest waste basket.

Piel said it also was to help "remind people that science is done by people and not by machines." Science, he observed, is "getting too far away from people."

Flying Money
Entries ranged from a folded dollar bill to a contraption consisting of two disposable paper plates glued together and dubbed the Frisbee Flyer.

The winners:
For duration aloft: Frederick J. Hooven, Bloomfield Hills Mich., 10.2 seconds, and Jerry Brinkman, Toledo, Ohio, 9.4 seconds.

Distance flown: Robert Meuser, Oakland, Calif., 89 feet, and Louis Schultz, Oak Brook, Ill., 58 feet, 2 inches.

Aerobatics: Edward Ralston, Urbana, Ill., and Capt. R.S. Barnaby, USN (ret.), Philadelphia.

Origami (the ancient Japanese art of paper folding): Prof. James Sakoda, Providence, R.I.

Apollo 1 Report Is Due Shortly; See August Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two top space agency officials meet in all-day sessions with specialists here today to hear interim findings from work panels probing to learn what caused the Apollo 1 fire.

Dr. Robert C. Seamans, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, were to hear the status reports behind closed doors.

A public report on the interim findings, if one is made public, was not expected until later in the week, after Seamans returns to Washington to brief NASA Administrator James Webb and congressional leaders.

Thursday Mueller and other Apollo program representatives are to make a presentation to Seamans, in the presence of the investigating board, on the immediate cause of the Apollo 1 tragedy in future planning.

Mueller is to list plans that might still permit a manned Apollo launching this year, perhaps as early as August or September.

Also under consideration today and Thursday was to decide whether NASA should substitute a two-gas mixture for the pure oxygen Apollo breathing system and whether to provide the craft with a quick-opening hatch.

The $40-million Apollo 1 cabin section — gutted by the Jan. 27 fire that killed Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee — is in a Cape hangar being disassembled piece-by-piece in a methodical search for clues.

Lion Get Guard 'Muster Award'; Dr. Lake Speaks

The Kingston Lions Club received the Muster Award from the National Guard for 1967 Tuesday and Richard Kalish received the highest award from the Lions, the Lions International Achievement Award. Kalish is a past president of the Lions.

The guest speaker was Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Ulster Community College, who will be leaving the college to assume the presidency of Kalamazoo Community College in Michigan soon.

Show Movie
Dr. Lake presented a movie from the State University of New York entitled A Place to Begin. The movie brought out that the community college is not a splinter college but a college where people of all ages may go to further their education.

Dr. Lake pointed out that most of the teachers at UCCC have their masters degrees and many are studying for doctorates. "This gives our community a good backbone of teaching experience," Dr. Lake said.

Dr. Lake urged persons in the county to make their feelings on the college known to the board of supervisors. He said one of the problems faced by the college is that the people are not aware that it is their college.

Sound Foundation
The outgoing president noted that the college was on a sound foundation and should be one of the most beautiful in the state when completed but the progress has not moved forward as quickly as it should.

He called for more support of the college trustees by the board of supervisors and more interest in the college by the people of the county.

In closing Dr. Lake said, "Each person of the county can make his thoughts known through his elected representative."

Burglars Hit 2 Area Eaterties

Burglars forced their way into Guido's Restaurant on the East Chester Street Bypass and the Broillette Drive-In on Route 212, Saugerties, sometime during Tuesday night and made off with an undetermined amount of cash.

Kingston State Police are investigating both break-ins.

John Foundas, operator of the Broillette, told The Freeman he discovered the burglary at about 6 a. m. and notified authorities. He said the cash register and a cigarette machine had been opened and the contents taken.

Foundas estimated that about $30 had been taken from the cash register. Entry was gained by prying a rear window.

Louis Perry, manager of Guido's told The Freeman he discovered the restaurant had been burglarized when he opened for business at about 10:20 a. m. He said the coin boxes on the bowling machine, a juke box and a cigarette vending machine had been ripped off and taken out.

Side where they were emptied of the contents. Perry reported that BCI officers found the empty coin boxes outside the building.

Perry also reported that a number of cans of beer had been taken from the cooler. He said that entry was gained by prying open a side door leading to the dining room.

Ford Calls Back 217,000 Autos For Inspection

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is calling 217,000 of its 1966 and 1967 model cars into service shops for inspection of possible power brake faults.

The power-assist portion of the brake systems on some of the cars may fail in cold weather after a prolonged period of parking, causing an increase in the pressure needed to push down the brake pedal and stop the car, Ford said.

The company also said steering wheel assemblies will be replaced in 5,900 of the recalled vehicles with new Thunderbirds equipped with automatic speed-control devices.

Besides Thunderbirds, the recall for possible brake problems include Falcons, Fairlanes, Comets, Mustangs and Cougars. The vehicles are 1966 and 1967 models equipped with power brakes.

Those cars without power brakes, as well as Lincoln Continental and Mercurys with power brakes, are not affected, the company said.

Ford said Tuesday that recent blizzard conditions in the northern United States and Canada aggravated the power-brake problem.

Hymnal for Baptists
LIBERTY, Ky. (AP) — Members of Liberty Baptist Church sat in stunned silence when Johnnie Beard began leading their song service. Beard was in their midst for four blocks away. It seems the Methodists were hooked up for a broadcast over the local radio station, and the speaker system in the Baptist Church was plugged in to receive. A few plugs were pulled and things were back to normal.

small cannon ammunition. Despite hundreds of air attacks against the line, sources say the strip has never been out of service for any extended period.

Attorney Tapped As Nickerson's Foe in Nassau

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has tapped a young Republican town supervisor to oppose Nassau County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson, who is seeking a third term.

The governor's choice is Sol Wachtler, 37, supervisor of the Town of North Hempstead. Wachtler is described as typical of the "new breed" of Republican—young, aggressive and attractive.

The handsome, black-haired attorney was here Tuesday to discuss his potential candidacy with the governor and Sen. Edward Speno of East Meadow, who also is chairman of the Nassau County GOP committee.

After a brief meeting with Rockefeller, Speno announced that Wachtler had agreed to run against Nickerson, who won election to a second term by 90,000 votes.

Rockefeller's personal endorsement could serve to eliminate other potential candidates for consideration by the Nassau County Republican Committee, which meets next month.

District Attorney William Cahn and former Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini are reported to have shown interest in running against Nickerson.

Nickerson, the first Democrat to be elected to the post in a normally Republican county, announced Sunday that he would seek re-election to a third term—two days after U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy urged him to do so.

Ohio Walkout Causes GM Layoff in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of General Motors Corp. in Upstate New York plan to begin laying off approximately 15,000 employees today because of the cutback caused by a walkout of Chevrolet workers in Ohio.

"We're involved too, since we supply engines and parts for the assembly plants, and they don't need them when they're shut down," John D. Debbink, manager of three Chevrolet parts plants in the Town of Tonawanda, said Tuesday.

The strike in Mansfield, Ohio, is nearly a week old and involves 2,650 members of the United Auto Workers union who protest subcontracting policies, which the union said endangered jobs at the Chevrolet plant.

General Motors officials in Detroit announced that 80,000 would be laid off even if the strike is settled soon because of a parts shortage resulting from the Mansfield walkout.

Locally, 9,000 of the 13,200 workers are employed by four Chevrolet plants in Tonawanda and Buffalo. Debbink said they will be sent home beginning early Thursday.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Gorman Assails West: Just Another Republican Yo-Yo

In his significantly titled "The Future of the Democratic Party in Ulster County" talk before the Woodstock Democratic Club last week, Dr. Gerald P. Gorman said, "If everyone would get on his feet and say, 'We are going to bring to Ulster County a strong, two-party system,' we would be exercising charity to all those Republicans who don't know what they're missing."

Gorman, a well-known area surgeon and City of Kingston Democratic Chairman, said more than once during his Woodstock appearance, "and not one word of his speech could be described as an afterthought. He took the role of critic of the Republican system locally, and was generously indignant about the continued 'self-interest in this God-forsaken county that seriously demands good, two-party government.'"

While the visiting Democratic leader's pronouncements concerning Kenneth L. Wilson, assemblyman and Republican county chairman, and the county Board of Supervisors were harsh, he reserved a portion of his speech of observation on various and sundry Woodstock politicians. He labelled the GOP in general a group "incapable of individual thought" and exhilarated his audience by comparing members of the Board of Supervisors to "yo-yos going up and down on a string according to how Ken Wilson pulls it."

Follows Hierarchy
For Woodstock supervisor, William West Jr., a member of the Board of Supervisors, he also had an etched-in-acid bouquet. "This man," he said, "leaves a lot to be desired. If you have ever had a machine politician, you have one in West. Anytime the party has directed a unified vote, he gets on his feet with inaccurate information, spouting off without any homework on the subject, but following the dictates of the Republican hierarchy."

Gorman urged Woodstock Democrats to start looking for a man to oppose West this November. He said West's record would speak for itself, that "his non-productivity in the Board of Supervisors is a matter of public information and record." Understandably, Gorman wished him "poor luck in 1967" and said he was a man who could be beaten — that momentum and implementation should be begun immediately to see his defeat at the polls. "It's a thing that has to be."

Referring to the Luni adoption case, Gorman said that what Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick did in this controversy was "admirable" in that "this unfortunate case showed the lack of qualifications of Woodstock resident and County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, and the conflict of interests between Fitzsimmons and Family Court Judge Hugh Elwyn." He felt, too, he said, that Resnick's action had pointed out how antiquated are the laws governing adoption in this state.

He felt one of the better things to come out of the case was the statement by Judge William E. Connor, whose report to the court was a classic in positive recommendation that the foster child involved remain with the Lunis as a member of the family. Connor, with his statement, Gorman said, "forever put a dent into the stupidity that governs the County Department of Welfare."

Urges Dismissal
He urged area voters to fight for the dismissal of Fitzsimmons and reminded his audience that there is a point of "illegality" regarding his appointment. "If I must meet certain requirements as a surgeon," opined Gorman, "and teachers, lawyers and engineers must, then the commissioner should meet these, too."

He further charged that the "GOP machine has pushed onto the people of this county an individual just as inadequate as Fitzsimmons in the person of Charles Relyea, chairman of the Board of Supervisors." Gorman insisted that, "It is beyond laughter to see Relyea in operation, realizing that he and the GOP majority control a $14,000,000 budget." The Relyea chairmanship, he feels, is closer to tragedy than comedy.

Gorman also stated his belief that the new reapportionment plans for Ulster County went through without the knowledge of Democrats and that the plans are GOP slanted. He said the Republicans suddenly brought forth a reapportionment plan just before the December deadline when one had to be submitted by court order. "If this plan affects the Town of Woodstock in no particular manner," he said, "it does affect the Democrats by its reapportionment of the lower part of Ulster County." He felt Democrats stand to lose the strength they currently have in Shawangunk, Plattekill, Lloyd and Marlboro. He feels the Board of Supervisors should be streamlined and a county executive should be elected — acts which would be constructive legislation and a better alternate than the reapportionment plan proposed. He promised top Democrats would work to bring these matters to a referendum vote.

Christian Science
A Bible lesson "Christ Jesus" will be presented at Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from John: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him." In Woodstock, Sunday services are held at 11 a. m.

Open Drop Box Here for Items For Vietnamese

"If we save these children today, they will be the leaders of Vietnam tomorrow," said Betty Moul, trustee of the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation, who visited Woodstock last weekend. She was speaking of the children being cared for at Madame Vu Thi Ngai's orphanage in Saigon. Miss Moul, who is also Senator Jacob Javits' secretary, spent her five-weeks vacation recently working as a volunteer at the orphanage and she reports the situation there as desperate. In caring for about 400 children, Madame Ngai's expenses run to $2,000 a month, and her need for clothing and supplies is also urgent.

For the convenience of anyone wishing to contribute to the drive, a drop box has been placed in the Thrift Shop, Bradley Meadows, Woodstock. Items needed are baby shirts, diapers, crib pads, safety pins, baby oil and lotion. Since Madame Ngai, with the help of the older children, makes all of their blouses and pants, she needs materials, large spools of thread, snaps, zippers and sharp scissors. She could also use a pair of clippers, such as the barbers use, as she cuts all the children's hair.

Madam Ngai is in constant need of money and, if an individual or organization contributed but $5 a month, it would feed one child for that length of time. It requires 80 loaves of bread to feed the children daily. Each loaf is cut into four pieces and a little jam is spread on each piece which is given to a child for breakfast.

Kit Bags Needed
The New York City Chapter of the Dooley Foundation is also continuing with the Kit Bag project, and a total of 70,000 more have been promised to the Marine Action Team in Da Nang. Anyone who would like to contribute time sewing the kit bags, is asked to discuss it with Mrs. Jerrie Parke at the Thrift Shop. She has a sample kit bag and instructions for making them. Also needed for the bags are tooth paste, tooth brushes, facecloths, band-aids and combs.

Betty Moul carries with her a large scrapbook of photos of the children in the orphanage along with a tape recorder which carries the voices of the children, who despite their plight would seem to be a brave and cheerful group.

Invited to attend a performance of the Bob Hope Christmas show at an airbase, Betty Moul flew in a helicopter squeezed between the pilot, a gunner and a couple of officers. While the gunner kept his alert with weapon she kept her camera in action as well, or as clad in her white pique shift, she bounced along in a jeep through sniper territory. She was made an honorary member of the 121st Signal Bn., 1st Infantry Division, which has adopted the orphanage. Her photographs, of our soldiers each with a child in tow, present a far different picture from that of the United States' critics who accuse them of wanton killing of the women and children, many feel.

On Radio Here

Betty Moul told of many of her experiences on Mary Margaret McBride's program, Monday morning over WGHQ.

Members of both the U.S. Army and Marines are serving in Vietnam as liaison officers between the Dooley Volunteers and the Vietnamese people. Their doctors and dentists, on their own time, make frequent visits to the orphanage to treat the ailing children. It is safe to assume that a young generation of Vietnamese are growing up with a high regard for our military, says Betty Moul.

Harmony Hill News

Latest arrivals at the Harmony Hill International Library's Music section includes: three Sonatinas for piano by Dusan Martincek, piano music by Jan Zimer, piano duet, (from the Banks of the Danube) by Michal Vilec, vocal music by Milan Ferko, violin music by Aladar Mozi, Ladi-slav Burles and a cello sonata by Michal Vilec. Also Dances for Strings by Anton Zimmerman (1741-81), published together with seven minuets for strings by Mozart (Kochel 65a); Bagatelles for Piano by Dezider Kardos; children's vocal and piano music; the full scores of the Seventh Symphony by Alex. Moyzes, the First Symphony by Simon Jurovsky, the Orchestral Suite No. 2 by Jozef Kresanek, the Metamorphoses by Eugen Suchon and the Slovakian Suite by Jan Cikker; and many more.

This music represents a fair cross section of the young Slovak been published most recently in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia (the eastern section of Czechoslovakia). "Superficial examination reveals some astounding talents among young Slovakian composers," says Hanus A. Schimmerling, of Harmony Hill, Woodstock. "After thorough examination of the scores, a more detailed review will be made available for those interested in new music and considering performances of some of these compositions."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Just where does the Administration get off—trying to tell the CIA what kind of aid programs it can and cannot have?"

Letter Applauds Stand by Gorman

Peter W. Rakov, of West Road, Woodstock, has submitted the following letter to the editor in reference to a news story in this paper regarding the recent meeting of the Woodstock Democratic Club here.

"In the Freeman's story Saturday regarding Dr. Gerald Gorman's address to the Woodstock Democratic Club two nights previous, I believe one aspect was not covered thoroughly—possibly for very good reason.

"Dr. Gorman, Kingston Democratic Chairman, was asked by a member of the audience how he would react, if elected Democratic County Chairman, to any Democratic candidate who actively sought and accepted the endorsement of the Conservative Party. Dr. Gorman replied that such a 'Democratic' candidate should be disowned by the Democratic Party and their endorsement should be immediately withdrawn. Referring to just such situation in the 1965 Kingston mayoralty race, when Raymond Garraghan did seek and accept both Democratic and Conservative support, Dr. Gorman opined that this was the ultimate in intellectual dishonesty. In a scathing attack on Mr. Garraghan, Dr. Gorman proclaimed Garraghan as being a Republican and no longer a Democrat, as evidenced by his appointments and tactics while in office. In fact, on the Community Chest telethon just this past November, Mayor Garraghan referred to Conservative Governor-elect Ronald Reagan of California by stating to Judge Raymond Mino, while on TV and radio: 'I wish he were ours.'"

"Dr. Gorman's frank well-reasoned stand is to be commended by all persons, regardless of party affiliation."

Rakov Is Named Campaign Head; Office Leased

Woodstock Democrats already stand ready to conduct a hard-hitting political campaign in this election year of 1967 which will see several terms of local office holders expiring on the Woodstock Town Board and in other township categories.

The Democratic Party announced here this week that Peter Rakov has been named permanent campaign chairman for 1967 for the party. He will be responsible for correlating all work by party volunteers in connection with local, state and national affairs.

Democrats will also get a head start on Republicans by opening permanent headquarters shortly. Peter Grad, president of the local Democratic Club, noting that his party has no intention of doing all its campaigning in the last 30 to 60 days prior to this fall's election, said headquarters will be opened as soon as possible. Such action will be one means of keeping people well informed through meetings and distribution of literature, he said. All activities will be geared toward beginning the campaign next month.

A lease has been drawn up to assure rental of the small building next to the Woodstock Playhouse, used by Democrats in last year's campaign and still available to the party.

Names Membership Committee

Grad also urges all local Democrats to become paying members of the Woodstock Democratic Club. He has appointed Florence Hubbard, Bill Abrams and Mary Rathgeber as a Membership Committee to solicit for new members on a paid basis.

Grad, Rakov and other top Democrats here say every effort will be made to field top-flight candidates in the fall election to oppose Republican office seekers. They feel confident, they say, that the Democrats have "moment in the party and everything possible should be done to . . . talent out and push it forward."

In addition, they feel that the Republican tide is changing locally and that if Democrats meet their obligations and the challenge, a new image for the Democratic Party can be created and victory may be theirs.

Woodstock Democrats have pledged themselves to fighting the issue of politics throughout the 365 days of every year; are now firm in their belief that victory cannot be an October to November affair.

New faces for 1967 would seem to be the slogan for now and lo-

Flooded Crocs

ASWAN, Egypt (AP)—Crocodiles living in the Nile waters of Upper Egypt for the past several thousand years have only two years to live, Aswan High Dam experts predict. Lake Nasser, which will rise behind the dam, is expected to cause fast currents during formation. Crocodiles which have terrorized Egyptians since the Pharaohs learned to swim, will not be able to survive the rapid life imposed on them.

Rotarians Mark 62nd Birthday

This week the Rotary Club of Woodstock will mark the 62nd anniversary of the founding of Rotary, the oldest of the service clubs, in Chicago, Ill., on Feb. 23, 1905.

Announcing the milestone, Malcolm Rose, president of the local Rotary club, said, "The Rotary Club of Woodstock is linked with more than 12,600 other Rotary clubs in 134 nations around the world. Rotary meetings marking this anniversary will be held in many languages, including Arabic, Danish, Finnish, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Japanese and Persian."

The Rotary Club of Woodstock was organized in 1935 and now has 24 active members, all business and professional men of this community. Since the membership is composed of one representative of each business and profession, the club represents a cross-section of the community's vocations.

Ex-Senator

Douglas Still Not Afraid Of Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Douglas wasn't afraid of controversy when he was U.S. senator from Illinois and he isn't afraid of it now that he's "just a schoolteacher" again.

Pleads for Argument
"Argue with me, play the devil's advocate," the silver-haired economist-statesman shouted at his class of 20 at the New School for Social Research Tuesday night. He pounded on the birch-topped table in front of him so hard that all eight of the tables pushed together for the seminar shook and students jumped up in alarm.

Then there was a burst of laughter in which Douglas joined, and a curly-haired man of about 35 took up the challenge.

The former senator, defeated by Republican Charles Percy last November had upheld the current government spending for welfare and foreign aid and asked: "Would someone come forward and defend the conservative cause?"

To which the "devil's advocate" replied "by increasing the deficit for welfare spending, we are reducing the incentive for private enterprise to increase the profits which would eventually filter down to these people (on welfare)."

The student who defended the conservative cause declined to give his identity for publication. Douglas, getting up to pace the room, snapped: "We've waited for a long time for that and it hasn't happened yet."

No Virtue to Waste
Fingering his blue and black striped tie, the former senator went on: "To be a liberal, you don't have to be a wastrel," he told the class. "It's no virtue to waste money."

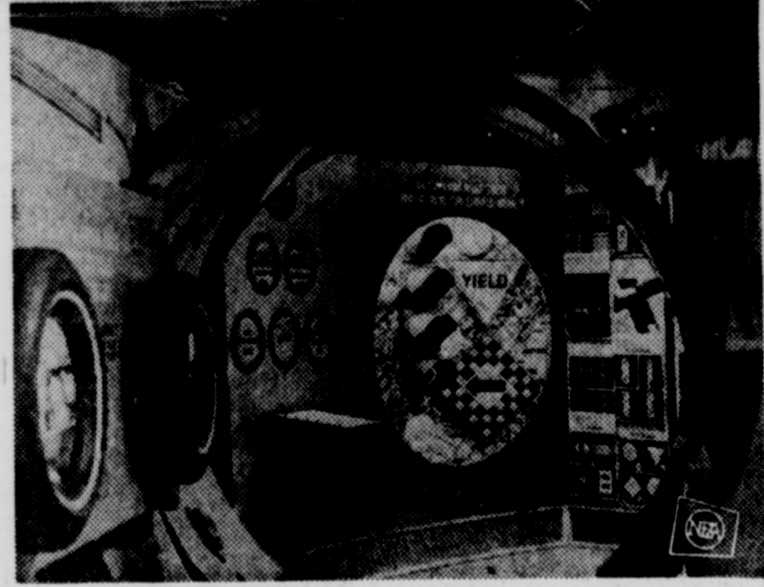

Sitting, bounding, pacing, the veteran of 18 years in the Senate recounted his own efforts over that time to pare waste from the federal budget.

"The place where the waste really exists is the military," he said, pouring out a collection of gadgets on the table as the class crowded around to look.

"This is an aluminum slug," he said of one item, "I paid 50 cents for it in Washington; the Air Force paid $10."

"Look at these lamp sockets — 25 cents apiece. The Navy paid $21.40 each for over 5,000 of them."

Slaughter Dairy Cows in Protest Of Milk Prices

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Several hundred milk cows headed for a slaughter house in nearby Marcy today as dairy farmers continued the animal sacrifice to effect a change in the supply and demand for milk.

Tuesday, 300 dairy cattle from seven counties were sold to the Utica Veal Co. The cows came from dairy farmers in Herkimer, Montgomery, Fulton, Albany, Otsego, St. Lawrence and Jefferson counties.

Today, dairy farmers from Lewis, Schenectady, Orange and Sullivan counties were expected to sell their milk cows to the firm.

David A. Carrig, a dairy farmer from Little Falls and president of the Herkimer County chapter of the National Farmers Organization, said the move was undertaken to "bring supply and demand into more equal balance and to put us in a better bargaining position."

"We hope to bring home to the processor and the government the fact that we are not going to continue to sell our milk for less than the cost of production," Carrig said.

The move to sell milk cows to effect the balance sought by farmers, was initiated by the NFO on a nationwide basis.

Claim No Profit
The farmers contend inadequate producer prices and milk surpluses have resulted in relatively little profit for the dairymen.

George Demerree, a Little Falls dairy farmer, said farmers are seeking full parity in producer payments, which he said currently were at the 75 per cent level.

Parity is the standard set by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the measure of the full value compared with the price at a selected base period.

Christian said the system is a good idea, that it keeps him informed about what reporters are asking and that he inherited it from predecessor Bill D. Moyers.

"This proved to be most conservative," Douglas said. "He's now saving over $6 billion without cutting firepower."

Keeps Tabs on News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson keeps tabs on what top federal officials tell newsmen.

Press secretary George Christian said Tuesday that White House assistants tell him daily about significant press contacts, and outside officials "send in such information as they think I may need."

When Christian believes the information is pertinent or informative, he sends Johnson a memo, he said.

Christian said the system is a good idea, that it keeps him informed about what reporters are asking and that he inherited it from predecessor Bill D. Moyers.

"This proved to be most conservative," Douglas said. "He's now saving over $6 billion without cutting firepower."

Report Lack of Engineers; Fear for Country's Future

By ROB WOOD

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The nation's space program may lag. The design and construction of dams, skyscrapers, bridges and highways may stall. The power lawn mower may be lacking in quality and the television sets in quantity.

These are some of the dangers foreseen by Dr. Ralph E. Fadum unless the United States sharply increases its number of graduating engineers.

Fadum is dean of the School of Engineering at North Carolina State University, vice chairman of the U.S. Army Scientific Advisory Panel, and has served in various capacities with the Department of Defense, the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and the Ford Foundation.

Cite Great Need

In a society geared to science and technology, Fadum said in an interview the need for engineers continues to grow at an alarming rate.

But, he added, the number of students seeking engineering degrees increases only a fraction each year and is, in fact, much lower now than in 1950.

Seventeen years ago, he said, the 160 universities with accredited programs awarded 48,160 engineering degrees. Last year the figure had dropped to 35,000. "This is enough," Fadum said, "to keep the status quo and far below what is needed to meet the demands of the future."

Progress Will Slow

The shortage of engineers, Fadum predicted, will be reflected in the nation's missile and rocket systems, in its production of jet airplanes, in the launching of satellites.

Even more important, he continued, it will be mirrored in the way of life Americans not only expect but demand: in the availability and sound operation of washing machines, stereophonic record players, refrigerators; in the safety and speed of construction of highways and bridges that span the rivers and the skyscrapers that house the office headquarters.

"If the shortage of engineers grows, as the public consumption and governmental programs increase, there must necessarily follow a decline in the availability of certain items and a regression in the standard of work performed. In other words, there will not be as many washing machines as now and they won't work as well," Fadum said.

As a comparison, Fadum returned to the 1950 figure when the United States produced 48,160 engineers. That same year the Soviet Union had 37,343 graduating engineers. A decade later the United States reported 33,173 engineering graduates, the Soviet Union 120,132.

The refusal of many high school graduates to seek engineering careers, Fadum explained, is prompted by several factors, including:

Difficult Field

1. "Engineering is recognized as a rather difficult field, and many youths today refuse to accept a challenge as they did in bygone years."

2. "The layman, the parent, the high school counselor, have a misconception of engineering. They picture a man in boots looking through a transit. But an engineer is a man with a knowledge of math and the natural sciences who applies it with judgment to develop ways to utilize, economically, the materials and forces of nature for the benefit of mankind."

3. "And, there are some who believe the youth of today, in an effort to insure his college education without interruption by the draft, selects a course of study in which he can maintain 'good grades.'"

Exciting Career

To solve the shortage, Fadum said, the public must be made aware of the advantages "and excitement of engineering."

A graduate with a bachelor degree in engineering, Fadum said, can receive an average of $672 a month to start, with an unlimited future. With a master's degree, the pay scale rises to $800 a month, and with a doctor's degree to $1,000-$1,100.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County stated today that he will request immediate committee action by the State Assembly on his proposal to amend the Social Welfare Law as it concerns the state's program of medical assistance to the needy.

Wilson said his proposed legislation would double the deduction factor in the present law, which he feels would serve the three-fold purpose of reducing Medicaid costs, providing greater incentives for retaining private insurance programs, and reducing unnecessary out-patient medical visits.

Last year the Legislature approved a Republican sponsored measure to add a deductible feature to the Medicaid program which would require a person to pay a portion of their own medical expenses, provided that the expenses were not for hospital care, and that the person's annual income was not below $4,500 a year. The amendment stipulated that a Medicaid applicant or recipient had to pay up to 1 per cent of their annual gross income, or up to 5 per cent of their annual net income in excess of 80 per cent of the minimum income provisions, whichever figure was the smallest.

Assemblyman Wilson said while the amendment to the law has, to a certain extent, reduced some Medicaid costs, the principal impact of the measure has been to induce people to retain a privately financed medical insurance plan to compensate them for any medical expense they might incur through the Medicaid deductions, and to provide certain safeguards against a flood of unnecessary visits to doctors and dentists.

Wilson said he fully agreed with including a deduction feature in the law, since such a restriction maintains the concept of the program of medical assistance for the needy, while still encouraging financial responsibility by those applying for assistance, and the retention of private insurance plans.

The Ulster County Assemblyman added, however, he was convinced the existing provisions fall short of their intended goals, and the restrictions should be tightened to the point where they will be more effective, without damaging the basic idea of the medical assistance program. Wilson said his proposed legislation to double the existing deduction provisions would better serve the purpose for which the original amendment was designed, while still remaining well within the framework of the basic Medicaid program.

Bugging Foes Seek Acceptance Avenues

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Advocates of a plan to ban all wiretapping and electronic snooping in this state sought new avenues today for legislative acceptance of their proposal, in the wake of a thumping Assembly rejection of the "bugging" concept.

The Democratic-controlled Assembly voted, 91-49, Tuesday to block approval of the bill that critics said would paralyze police in the war against crime.

Supporters argued that wiretapping, and other forms of electronic eavesdropping violated personal privacy.

Rejection of the measure spelled defeat for Democrats Albert Blumenthal, of Manhattan, and Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn. The two, faced with defeat of their bill, turned to a parliamentary maneuver in which a measure can be re-introduced to the Assembly if they desire.

Meanwhile, in other areas of legislative activity Tuesday, there were these further developments:

— Democrats flexed their majority muscle at a joint Senate-Assembly session to force election of Dr. Stephen K. Bailey, a Syracuse University dean, to the State Board of Regents. Republicans vowed to challenge the election in the courts, contending that Bailey flunked eligibility tests for the regent post because of a 78-year-old conflict-of-interest law. Bailey had refused to promise to resign if elected to the governing body of all education in New York State.

Opponents of the wiretapping measure argued that it would prevent police from tapping the telephones of suspected criminals.

The Assembly also knocked down a companion bill, by a vote of 71-69 that would have banned the sale of any "bugging" or eavesdropping device if it were to be used for snooping purposes.

Existing law lets police obtain court orders to tape telephones.

NEVER TOO OLD for exercise, say Mrs. R. J. Stueck, left, and Mrs. C. B. Connley, both of St. Louis, who for the past 25 years have been doing stretch exercises at once-a-week gym classes. Mrs. Stueck, 71, was one of the founders of a "mother health club" in suburban St. Louis during World War II.

Claims CIA Was Blocked in Trying To Stop Donations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency sought to curtail its financing of private organizations in the past but ran into objections from other arms of the government, says Sen. Milton R. Young.

The North Dakota Republican said every investment the CIA made in an organization outside the government was undertaken on written instructions, apparently from the National Security Council.

He said the spy agency's checks were subject to scrutiny in the Bureau of the Budget, like the Security Council, a White House agency.

State Started It

Young said in some instances CIA financial support originally was promoted by the State Department.

Young, senior Republican on the Senate panel which oversees CIA financing and operation, said the intelligence agency was trying to get some of its instructions changed prior to the public storm that broke last week with disclosure it had been subsidizing the National Student Association.

Young said secrecy restrictions barred his giving a more detailed description. He talked after CIA Director Richard Helms briefed the Senate panel for three hours Tuesday. Helms also met with the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate subcommittee, said Helms reported the agency is withdrawing financial support of some private organizations.

He would not quote Helms further. Russell did not make clear whether the Helms report involved a halt in aid to groups still secretly receiving CIA funds. Helms would not answer newsmen's questions after the hearing.

No Word From LBJ

In other developments:

— Sources close to President Johnson said he will make no statement about CIA subsidies until a panel of three government officials completes its review of the situation.

— Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he flatly opposes secret government investment in private organizations.

— The student body president of the University of California at Berkeley, Dan McIntosh, said the National Student Association's "international program is dead. The credibility of United States students abroad is greatly damaged." He is on the NSA board.

— Peter O'Donnell Jr., Texas Republican chairman, said the which he heads has served as a John O'Donnell Foundation conduit for CIA funds.

— Republican Reps. Donald E. Lukens of Ohio and John E. Hunt of New Jersey demanded a congressional investigation to determine "how much of the millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money the CIA channeled to private organizations was used for leftist purposes."

The presidential sources said Johnson does not want to pre-empt the case wants solid facts before sneaking publicly and wants the benefit of judgment and recommendations of the investigating panel of Helms, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

Small Oysters for Cubans

MIAMI (AP) — Cubans like small oysters. Exiles here found only big ones until enterprising Pedro M. Martinez located a supply source in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay area. "Out there the oysters are so big that people throw away the little ones," Martinez reported. "So I arrange for the rejects."

Banks Unworried On New Treasury High-Rate Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department says its new high interest bonds won't disrupt banks or savings and loan associations and shouldn't block any possible lowering of private interest rates.

"Freedom Shares," at 4.74 per cent interest, go on sale May 1.

Banks and savings and loan associations late last year protested the new Treasury issue when the department contemplated a possible 5 per cent interest rate. They feared this rate would draw savings from them.

But the financial community Tuesday wished the Treasury well in its new venture with the note, to be sold only in combination with Series E savings bonds through the payroll savings or bond-a-month plan.

Many Restrictions

One savings and loan executive said the new note won't be a significant competitive factor for his industry because of built-in restrictions.

Treasury officials agreed that sufficient restrictions have been placed on the notes to prevent disruption of the private economy.

"It is expected that the dollars invested in Freedom Shares will be dollars that would not otherwise have entered the savings market," said Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Officials hope to borrow $1 billion in the next year with the bonds.

The administration tied sales of the new note directly to the Vietnam War. It will remain on sale for two years or until the war ends, whichever is longer.

Treasury officials said the interest rate itself is one restricting feature. The full 4.74 per cent won't be paid unless the note is held to full maturity of 4½ years. Lesser interest rates would be paid if the bond is redeemed early.

List Rates

S & Ls already can pay up to 4.75 per cent on regular savings accounts and up to 5.25 per cent on savings certificates which mature in six months. Banks can pay only 4 per cent on regular passbook savings but up to 5 per cent on certificates of less than $100,000 and up to 5.5 per cent on certificates of more than $100,000.

Certificates of deposit are receipts for money left in a bank for a specific time.

Treasury officials said the new note is comparable to the certificate, although the interest rate is lower.

They note that the new bond must be held for at least a year before it can be redeemed. It doesn't begin to draw 4.5 per cent interest until its third year.

1-2-3 Triplets

First in Taxi, Second at Door, 3rd in Hospital

SANTIAGO DE UBEDA, Soain (AP) — Maria de la Torre, 34, wife of a local farmer, gave birth to triplets Tuesday night — the first in a taxi on the way to a hospital, the second at the door of the hospital on a stretcher and the third on the operating table of the emergency room.

The hospital said today that mother and triplets are in good condition.

Maria already had three children.

Follow Tradition

WASHINGTON (AP) — In keeping with a tradition started in 1912, Congress observes Washington's Birthday today by listening to a reading of the first president's Farewell Address.

No other floor business is scheduled in either chamber.

A freshman Republican from Washington's home district of Mount Vernon, Va., Rep. William L. Scott, reads the message to the House.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., reads it in the Senate.

The farewell message, which warns against foreign entanglements, was never delivered by Washington. It was issued in the form of a news release in Philadelphia near the end of his second term.

Dear Abby...

Boss' Wife Needs Personal Secretary

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am "the" girl in a one-employe office, and my problem is my boss's wife. She thinks I am hired to run all her errands. This morning she sent a girl to the office for me to take back to the store for credit. It was wrapped in a piece of torn tissue paper. (No sales slip. Just try it some time!)

She is always sending stuff for me to have gift-wrapped and mailed out of town. Nothing is ever in a box. All this takes time and standing in line. And I have to do it after my regular office hours. I am not paid an extra dime for this, and she has never even said thank you.

Now she has a new one. She brings her little 4-year-old boy to the office for me to entertain while she has her hair done. I like my job and I like my boss, but I don't like being —

THE WIFE'S ERRAND GIRL

DEAR ERRAND GIRL: Tell your boss that this was not the kind of work you were hired for, and unless your job resumes its original character, you're leaving. (P. S.: But don't be rough about it. He may be as pained as you are about his wife's errands.)

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law got pregnant and I offered to let her wear my maternity clothes. They were good as new and I paid good money for them. When she returned them to me they were just like rags. All worn out and even soiled. I could have cried.

I will never be able to wear them again. I hope to have more children and I planned on saving them. Should I send her a bill?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: No. Charge it to experience. And in the future offer articles of clothing to no one unless you are reasonably certain they will be returned in good condition.

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago my son and his wife asked me to live with them. They have six children. I promptly accepted for I lived alone.

Ever since then, I have had absolutely no privacy whatsoever. Every morning bright and early their kids come knocking at my bedroom door. My son and his wife go out constantly, leaving me with the kids. They tell everyone they now have a "built-in sitter."

I can't take much more of this. I have a job and my own life to live. How can I tell them I am leaving?

NO SITTER

DEAR NO: Unless you can communicate better in another language, try English.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PRESSURED" IN PITTSBURGH: Don't be a sap. The only one who can't live without a mink coat is a mink!

Note March 3 Deadline For Feed Grain Filing

Farmers in Ulster County are reminded that they have 10 more days in which to enroll in the 1967 Feed Grain Program.

Details and necessary information have been mailed each individual farmer having a feed grain base.

Advance payment of one-half the amount due is being mailed as soon after enrollment as possible.

Any farmer who is not sure of his plans now can enroll, take no advance payment and drop out if plans are changed.

This is a voluntary — one year program and acres diverted can be seeded later for next year.

To date, 75 Ulster County farmers are taking advantage of this program.

March 3 is the deadline for enrollment. The Ulster County ASCS Office, 54 John Street, Kingston is open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Farmers are urged to stop in or phone and get the details.

Cuba Commends George

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio commended George Washington on his birthday to day, then knocked the present U.S. administration.

"Today," said the broadcast monitored in Miami, "the Cuban people pay tribute to George Washington's memory and salute in his person the ideals which... unfortunately do not inspire the men now ruling the federal government."

Washington's Birthday, even before the Fidel Castro regime, customarily got some degree of observance in Cuba.

Albany Man Killed In Rt. 9W Collision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Erving F. Albright, 24, the manager of a travel agency here, was killed Tuesday night in the head-on collision of two automobiles on Route 9W in the suburban Town of Glenmont.

Albright, who lived here, was the son of Frank Albright, owner of the Mountain View Coach Lines, a bus firm. The younger Albright was vice president and manager of the Argus Travel Inc.

Now, from American Motors, the car that wasn't there.

Over 1,000,000 buyers a year have not been able to get the car they wanted. Now, our new management team and our 2,500 dealers have done something about it.

Last night, I told thirty million television viewers that American Motors was going to make news. This is our first announcement, and it may well be the most important to come out of Detroit this year.

A major gap has developed in today's automobile market—a gap that no American-made car is filling today.

No automobile built for the American driver and American driving carries a list price under $2,000.

The lowest-priced U.S. cars—the compact cars—have the roominess, performance, and safety U.S. buyers want, but they've escalated in cost.

Over four million people have had to turn to little foreign imports even though these are really less car than Americans should have.

We estimate over a million buyers a year are forced to settle for an automobile that's above their means or below their needs.

What this country needs is a car for the American motorist—at a list price competitive to the imports. This is the car that isn't there.

This new pricing policy for Rambler American completes the repositioning of American Motors cars that began with the introduction of the full-size 1967 Ambassador and the intermediate-size Rebel. It in no way affects the price structure of our Ambassador and Rebel lines.

Here's the proof that dollar for dollar Rambler American is now the best automobile value in the world.

Owner must, every 4,000 miles or 6 months, change engine oil and install new oil filter; every 4,000 miles, clean oil filter cap (filter type), clean carburetor air cleaner element, inspect and correct fluid levels, drive belts and exhaust manifold heat valve; every 12,000 miles, service positive crankcase ventilation and exhaust emission control systems; every 24,000 miles, tune automatic transmission, replace carburetor air cleaner element; every 2 years, replace engine coolant; every 32,000 miles or 3 years, inspect and lubricate chassis; and every 6 months, furnish evidence of this service to an authorized American Motors Dealer and have him certify its receipt and car's mileage. Further, entire car is so warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective, will be repaired or replaced in accordance with applicable portion of the Warranty, without charge, at an authorized American Motors Dealership. Owner responsible for deterioration, misuse, normal maintenance, replacement of service items and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items.

1. Whichever comes first.

As of today, we are limiting future changes in our Rambler American line to essential changes that will further enhance the safety and reliability of these cars. This will save us millions of dollars—and we and our dealers are passing the savings along to you now. This means, for example, that the Rambler American 220 two-door sedan pictured here that yesterday listed at $2,073, now lists at $1,839. It means your American Motors/Rambler Dealer has put new price stickers on all nine Rambler American models.

We're not modifying or stripping down the cars. We're simply doing away with nonessential change so that U.S.-built low-priced cars can truly be low-priced.

Think of what you're getting. The Rambler American has already demonstrated its superiority over domestic compacts, winning its class in the 1967 Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials and in every Mobil Economy Run in which it has been entered.

Think again. Now—at a price competitive to imported cars—you can have the kind of performance needed on American highways, the kind of safety the American driver requires, the kind of dependability you can get only from a coast-to-coast network of dealers, the kind of comfort and room you have come to expect from an American automobile.

For years, Rambler American has been the best value in an American automobile.

Today, priced competitive to imported cars—it is the best automobile value in the world.

We promised you exciting news from American Motors.

Discordant Echo From Past

Soustelle Appears As 'Ghost Hopeful'
In French Politics

By HARVEY HUDSON

LYON, France (AP) — Jacques Soustelle, a turbulent and discordant echo from Charles de Gaulle's past, is making a spiritual return to France to haunt his old hero.

Living in Exile

Soustelle lives in exile, threatened with arrest if he steps onto French soil, but he is a candidate for a deputy's seat in next month's legislative elections. He will be the "ghost candidate" among 2,244 aspirants seeking 470 places in the National Assembly.

"It's a big gamble," says Jean Mriot, a Lyon municipal councillor, who is one of Soustelle's campaign managers.

"This is a serious candidacy. We think there's a chance to win but we're prepared to lose. We're fighting at a tremendous disadvantage. We have only limited resources, while the Gaullist opposition has the use of radio and television and plenty of money."

Although expert opinion is divided, Soustelle as a winner might immediately be covered by parliamentary immunity so he could walk into Paris as a free man. But a Gaullist-dominated Parliament could vote to lift Soustelle's immunity.

Edouard Charrett, a member of the Gaullist party, says firmly: "It's my seat and I intend to keep it."

Charrett claims to be the political father of Soustelle in Lyon and shrugs off the unexpected candidacy as a sort of bad political joke by an errant and ungrateful son.

Soustelle, 55, is an incarnation of France's drama over the Algerian war.

He followed Gen. de Gaulle to London in 1940 after the fall of France and worked in the Free French intelligence services. An archeologist of repute through a study of the Aztec civilization in Mexico, he plunged into politics after the liberation of France.

Elected Deputy in 1951

Soustelle was elected a deputy in 1951 from Lyon, and was re-elected in 1956. During those days of constantly changing governments of the Fourth Republic, he was one of the chief Gaullist spokesmen in Parliament and usually acted as the Gaullist hatchet man when the time came to topple a cabinet.

In 1955, he was appointed governor general of Algeria by Premier Pierre Mendes-France. French residents of Algeria protested that he too far to the left. Within months, the settlers had von Soustelle to their views and accepted him as their champion.

In May, 1958, when the Algerian settlers and the army were boiling up to open revolt, the teetering government in Paris put a guard on Soustelle's Paris apartment. Soustelle hid in the trunk of a car, fled to Geneva and flew to Algiers. There he helped channel the directionless revolution into a clear call for the return of De Gaulle, hailed then as the savior of French Algeria.

As a reward Soustelle was named minister of information when De Gaulle formed a gov-

AMC Cuts $200 Off American

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors today slashed the prices of its lowest-priced American car line an average of $200 in an effort to bolster the firm's sagging auto sales.

The new pricing strategy did not apply to AMC's other car lines, the Ambassador, Rebel and Marlin.

At present, the lowest-priced American car sells for about $2,075. It is a two-door, six-cylinder sedan. Its price was slashed $225 to bring it to $1,850.

AMC's assembly lines were closed this week for a two-week period as field inventories of unsold cars piled up.

B.C. Coins Found

JOIPUR, India (AP) — A shepherd boy found an earthen pot containing 50 silver coins which archeologists say may have been issued in the third or fourth century B.C., and which may be the oldest silver coins yet found in India. Jaipur district is in northwestern India, bordering the Great Indian Desert.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I received a letter and some colored photographs from Mrs. Korob of Red Hook. She has written to me before on the guided tours she took of Washington, D. C. and Williamsburg, Va. with Mrs. Teresa Mayone of Saugerties. This time she and her husband took a trip to the Smithsonian Institute Gallery of Folk Art in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Korob took a photograph of an eagle, made of wood, with a wingspread some 45 inches. It was said to be from the Hudson River sidewheeler, Mary Powell 1861-1920. Mrs. Korob quoted from the Smithsonian Publication 4615 — American Folk Art — The Art and Spirit of a People — From the Eleanor and Mabel Van Alstyne Collection — By Peter C. Welsh — Catalog Entries prepared by Anne Castrodale. The other picture is an almost life size liberty-capped goddess who once graced the pilothouse of the Hudson River Steamboat Mary Powell.

This folk art collection which is on exhibit at the Museum of History and Technology, United States National Museum, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C. was donated in 1964 by Mabel Van Alstyne (Mrs. Fred Dana Marsh) and her late sister, Dr. Eleanor Van Alstyne. This collection was assembled over a period of 40 years. Mrs. Marsh died on the Fourth of July, 1965. Some six months before she died, she announced that she was donating the collection to the Smithsonian Institution. Pre-private museum on the Marsh estate in Woodstock, and had never been opened to the public. It is said she left a considerable sum to the Kingston Hospital for decoration of the children's area. She also left a sum of money to the Woodstock library.

Mrs. Korob wrote that this same wooden eagle, from the Mary Powell is pictured on the face of the Smithsonian collection reproduction catalogue and is sold gracing stationery. Every museum has no end of interesting items to sell concerning their museum which visitors like to buy and take home. Mrs. Korob also writes that the American Heritage book, The Smithsonian Institution, by Walter Kay illustrates these figures of our Hudson River section. Thus small items saved from the Mary Powell have now a place of honor in the famous Museum in Washington, but when the powers that be in Kingston could have saved the graceful Mary Powell, they let it be demolished.

Mrs. Korob also says that on a recent TV program of the Smithsonian this Folk Art Exhibit was featured showing 19th century Americana and its many facets of daily life such as the ship figures from the Mary Powell, weathervanes, carousel figures, cigar-store figures, family records and portraits among others. She wrote that they took it had been housed in a slides originally of this exhibit and the two pictures are from them, and so she thought I would like to have them. I will put them in my collection with Don Ringwald's book on the Hudson River Dayline. No doubt others who will now visit Washington will see these items from our own Mary Powell.

It is indeed sad, that now in 1967, more and more of our landmarks are being demolished. The structures which were made with stone foundations and old brick, and Rundout Iron works columns and tailored bluestone, will be a thing of the past. Where have the people gone from the sixth ward, seems to be the question asked daily. While the powers that be are not concerned with local history, those in Washington accept items from this area and make the most of it.

3 Phones Cost $44,000

SOMESBAR, Calif. (AP) — It cost $44,000 to put three telephones in Somesbar, a remote and tiny settlement deep within Klamath National Forest in Northern California.

"A $44,000 project to serve three subscribers looks pretty strange in terms of economic justification," admitted D.J. Meyer, plant superintendent for the Siskiyou Telephone Co.

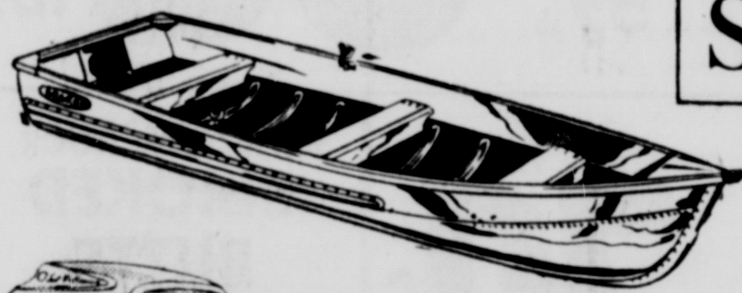

"However, these people need telephones and we have an obligation to provide them."

The company has set up three microwave relay stations to reach the two toll stations and the U.S. Forest Service station where the phones are located. Part of the cost was paid by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Griffith Scores

'Combat' Giving Way to Another ABC War Story

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Griffith Don Knotts and Ernie Ford can draw all they want to, and kick dirt and proclaim that they are country bumpkins.
What they are is a trio of very professional performers who work delightfully together. Tuesday night's "Andy Griffiths' Uptown-Downtown Show," an hour special, was unpretentious and silky smooth.
The star looked a lot, sang a bit. One comedy sketch was pretty funny. There were the inevitable rock 'n' roll numbers by a young guitar-playing group.

Lecture High Point
Griffith steered pretty clear of his weekly sheriff's character. The high point of the show for this viewer came when he did one of his back-country literary lectures that started with an explanation of how Confucius struck it rich by inventing fortune cookies and somehow wound up with the revelation that Shakespeare didn't do a very good job of mowing his lawn.
The hour was as relaxing and friendly as a neighborly visit.
ABC in the first announcement of a new program for next season, will replace its long-running "Combat" series on Tuesday nights with another war series. The new one is called "Garrison's Guerrillas" and centers on the military exploits of a squad recruited from American prisons.
Heading the cast will be Ron Harper, an attractive young actor who has turned up successfully in "87th Precinct," "Wendy and Me," and "The Jean Arthur Show." Each lasted, at the outside one season.
ABC is also committed to a series called "Off to See the Wizard," a sort of anthology from a major film studio that will consist of new material and some old films. The network also has picked up an off-beat Western series starring Walter Brennan.
For the second weekend in a row, NBC will produce two edi-

Pennsy Discourages Patrons on Tier Spur

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad discourages passenger use of two trains connecting Buffalo and Baltimore, Md., by maintaining "dirty coaches" and by making tickets difficult to get. Olean's mayor maintains.
Mayor Harvey L. Schneiderman's allegations came Tuesday during an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing into the railroad's request for permission to discontinue the two day-light passenger trains.
Trains 570 and 571 also stop in Olean and other communities in Pennsylvania.
Railroad officials said a 75 per cent decline in passengers over the last 10 years has resulted in a $375,000 annual loss for the PRR.
Schneiderman was one of eight witnesses at the day-long hearing who charged that discontinuing the trains would hurt a growing Southwestern New York area economically.
The PRR operates two night trains on the 395-mile run between Baltimore and Buffalo but has not asked to discontinue them.
The commission, which plans to complete its investigation into the railroad request by May 15, will conduct its fourth and final hearing Friday in Buffalo.

Expect Americans Will Give Expo Big Support

MONTREAL (AP) — Nobody is sure how many people will attend Montreal's world's fair called Expo 67, but everybody connected with it seems confident that more Americans than Canadians will see this event in Canada's largest city.
Consultants hired by Expo 67 project the attendance as 55.6 per cent American, 41.5 per cent Canadian—with the remainder from other countries.
The expectation is that the bulk of fairgoers will come from a radius of 600 miles, an area where 90 million live. New York is expected to send the largest U.S. contingent, followed in order by Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Illinois, Connecticut and Indiana.
On the optimistic side Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal has said he expects 20 million persons to make three visits each. Professionals at the fair envision about 35 million visits by 11.7 million persons.
Eighty per cent of the population of the United States has never been up in an airplane.

Saved From Soup

CHIOGGIA, Italy (AP) — A fishing boat in this north Adriatic port brought in a rare catch indeed: A massive sea turtle weighing 409 pounds. That would make a lot of turtle soup, but a zoologist beat the cooks to it and bought the turtle for a wildlife collection.

A Great Coup Picks Up Jack

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Oswald: "Here is a hand from many years back. South is in seven spades and his whole problem is the jack of trumps. Due to the fact that South misses the nine spot, he starts by playing dummy's ace and queen. West shows out and South is able to pick up the jack with no worries."
Jim: "I recognize the hand all right. Isn't this the famous hand where Harry Fishbein dropped the nine of spades under dummy's ace? This gave declarer two ways to finesse against the jack. In addition, the play made it look as if West would be more likely to hold four trumps, so West led a trump back to his king at trick two and East made his jack. Did Harry really have the distinction to be the first to make that play?"

Oswald: "I can't state categorically that someone else did not make it before Harry did. I can assure you that I was not the first to make the play and that no other oldtime expert has claimed to be first."
Jim: "Then you do give Harry full credit?"
Oswald: "I certainly do. It is interesting to realize that the play of cards has improved so much in the 40 years of contract that many plays that are commonplace today were almost unknown in the early days of the game."
Jim: "Do you know if any other player has sole credit for thinking of a play?"
Oswald: "There is the Deschappelles coup. It is named after the great French whist player Deschappelles but I, for one, doubt if he invented it. Then there is the Bath coup but that is named for the town of Bath, England."

Marine Receives Honor From Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Marine Sgt. Robert Emmet O'Malley, who holds the Medal of Honor for heroism in Vietnam, has received the New York State Conspicuous Service Cross and Citation.
O'Malley, 23, of Woodside, Queens, received the honor Tuesday night from Gov. Rockefeller, who said the Marine "deserves the thanks and respect of all New Yorkers and Americans."
The slight and quiet O'Malley was awarded the state honor before 500 members of the American Legion, at its 48th annual legislative dinner here.

BEWARE OF THE DANGERS involved in the powered snow plow for home use. It may be easier than the shovel, but a shovel doesn't have moving parts and the ability to give hard, small objects a bulletlike toss. Clear the area of children, keep the machine in neutral before starting, keep your hands away from moving parts and watch for hidden objects in the snow, urges Jacobsen Manufacturing Co., producers of snow throwers.

Basement Too

STUART, Fla. (AP) — The joy with which officials broke ground for a $48,000 Martin County Courthouse addition turned to chagrin recently when they found the county did not own the land. "This," said County Engineer Fred L. Bell in a masterpiece of understatement, "sabotages the whole project from the ground floor up."

Birds Consume Grain

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian Food Ministry did some birdwatching to estimate the loss of foodgrains caused by birds, then announced a crow takes 30 grams (1 ounce) per day, a pigeon 25 grams and a sparrow 8 grams. The rat remains the worst villain in food-short India however, with an intake of 50 grams per day.

DATING QUESTIONNAIRE FOR TEENAGERS

Starting to date is in many ways the most exciting time of your life, but new problems arise which teenagers and their parents should discuss together, so that they can come up with a code of behavior to which they all agree. The following quiz may help bring your family to agreement. If your answer eight or more correctly, you will have no trouble working out a sensible arrangement together.

1. In general, 13 or 14 is the accepted age for a girl to start having dates. True—False—
2. Girls and boys going steady may have "study dates" during the week. True—False—
3. It is always all right for a girl to ask a boy into her house for a while after a date. True—False—

4. A boy and girl may not take an overnight trip together. True—False—
5. A girl of college age may have dinner with a man in his apartment. True—False—
6. Ten-thirty to 11 is a reasonable curfew hour for 13 and 14 year olds. True—False—

7. According to etiquette, a boy must be formally introduced to a girl before asking her for a date. True—False—
8. If a girl refuses to go to a party with one boy she may not accept an invitation to go with another. True—False—

9. Keeping a date waiting when he comes for you is considered a sign of social know-how. True—False—
10. Blind dates are not considered good etiquette. True—False—

Here are the answers:
1. True, although it may be older in some areas.
2. False. All dates should be restricted to non-school nights, except for very special occasions.

3. False. She may not ask her date in if her parents, or another adult, are not at home.
4. True. But two or more college-age couples may travel together as long as the girls share a room.
5. True. They should, however, go out shortly afterwards; they should not stay alone there until all hours.

6. True. A little later for a school dance or special party.
7. False. Nonsense. Fellow students, club members, neighbors, etc. may perfectly well strike up an acquaintance without a formal introduction.
8. True.
9. False. It's in the poorest taste.

10. False. But the one arranging the date should know both parties—truly "blind" dates can be disastrous.

"Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" by Elizabeth L. Post, is available to readers of this paper. This new, sixteen page booklet will answer many questions for teenagers and their parents. Rockefeller Sets Up New Information Service for Women; Names Its Director

Governor Rockefeller announced today the creation of a Women's Unit in the Office of the Secretary to the Governor to serve as an informational clearing house to coordinate efforts of State departments and agencies dealing with problems of specific interest to women.

The program, which is thought to be unique in State government, grows out of the recommendations in the 1964 report of the Governor's Committee on the Education and Employment of Women, and in the Governor's 1966 Conference on Women. Governor Rockefeller said.

"The Unit will coordinate information concerning projects, events and educational opportunities of special interest to women of the State, help to create workable channels of communication between individual women and women's groups and state government, and look toward providing the means for practical, direct participation in state government by trained women volunteers," the Governor stated.

In the 1964 report, Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, committee chairman, recommended such a program to encompass ways that the State and industry are helping women to meet their new roles and new problems.

Kitty Carlisle Hart, chairman of the 1966 Conference, also urged the establishment of a women's informational and advisory division and called upon the Governor to implement some of the other specific recommendations made by the 1,400 women at the Conference.

During Governor Rockefeller's administration, several existing programs relating to women's activities have been strengthened. The Women's Unit in the Office of the Secretary will work in concert with these agencies which include:

The Women's Program of the Department of Commerce headed by Miss Guin Hall, which provides business, consumer education and job horizon services for women; the New York State Woman's Council, an advisory body to the Department of Commerce program; and the Interdepartmental Women's Committee.

In addition, Miss Ruth V. Washington, a New York attorney, has served as advisor to the Governor on Women's Special Events according recognition to individuals who have made special contributions within their organizations.

Miss Nina Jones, who has been special assistant to the Governor for Women's Events,

Bahl; Aaron Bahl, producer; and Mrs. M. Weiner. Anyone interested in performing in the Cabaret Night should contact Aaron Bahl. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

Community Concert Association Adds Two New Directors

At a recent meeting of the Kingston Community Concert Association, two well known local personalities were elected to the Board of Directors.

Percy W. Gazlay II is the son of Mrs. Maude Gazlay of Accord, and the late Leo C. Gazlay. Noted as a choral master and director, Gazlay will be remembered for his direction of the chorus and orchestra in Mendelssohn's "Elijah" as performed by the Ulster County Choral Society in 1964. The following year the group performed another major work, Handel's "Samson."

Mr. Gazlay studied organ with Carl Mueller, noted organist and composer of church music. His formal training was completed at Oberlin Conservatory, continuing the study of organ with Arthur Poiser and conducting with Maurice Kessler.

Mr. Gazlay has been minister of music at the Fair Street Reformed Church for the past 10 years, conductor of the Onteora Summer Chorus; for seven years, and conductor of the Ulster County Choral Society for more than four years.

Most recently, Mr. Gazlay conducted the choral group which sang in the Coach House production, "John Brown's Body."

William D. Skilling has been associated with radio station WGHQ for a number of years. He has been associated with the theatre practically all of his life. For many years, he was heard every Sunday morning on Horn and Hardarts radio program and their subsequent television show. For 11 years he was associated with the Starlight Theatre in Pawling, N. Y., both as an actor and director.

In 1946, he won the John Golden Award. He has also studied Shakespeare under the Norman Barrs of Stratford-on-Avon. Skilling is the AM-FM program director of WGHQ.

Female Managing Editor of Harvard Paper Is Lauded

By JAMES F. DONOHUE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — College men took the election of Linda McVeigh as the first female managing editor of the Harvard Crimson with a collective, good-natured groan.

"I think the boys were a lot more aware of my being a girl than I was," she said.

That was last February. Now Miss McVeigh, 20, retired from the Crimson, working on her majors in American history and literature, preparing to graduate from Radcliffe in June, and planning for marriage and a career.

The job she did as managing editor of the 94-year-old student daily for Harvard men and Radcliffe women is still getting rave reviews.

"She was great," said Robert Samuelson, last year's Crimson president and chief editorial officer. "You just have to look at the papers to see that."

"I would call her a hard-core reporter," said Boisfeuillet (Bo) Jones Jr., sports editor last year and now Crimson president. "She got right down to the facts and didn't take any nonsense. She was a very active managing editor."

Miss McVeigh, daughter of an Anaheim, Calif., carpenter, said she spent 50 to 60 hours a week on the Crimson in addition to 30 hours on school work.

She directed a staff of 30, about 10 of them girls, and was responsible for the news pages. The Crimson publishes daily except Sunday, has a circulation of 4,200, and usually runs six to eight pages.

That left little time for social life and dating, although Miss McVeigh found time to decide to marry the Crimson's executive editor, Thomas J. Mathews—not immediately, but in a few years.

She went after the Crimson job because she knew it would be hard work. She has no plans of easing up now.

Her ambitions include joining the Peace Corps to help establish a newspaper on a Pacific island, coming home to get a law degree, getting married, entering politics, and maybe running for Congress.

"I would feel guilty living comfortably," she said. "Life is competitive. I don't want to end up on some easy job making easy choices."

German Beauty Says Millionaire Breaks Promise

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A German beauty claims that an American millionaire she met at a nudist colony reneged on promises to marry her. He contends he only leased her from her husband.

Who is right must be decided by a U.S. District Court jury of seven men and five women hearing a case involving a $2.5-million breach of promise suit filed by Beate Leber.

Mrs. Leber, 30, claims she left her husband, Ralph Leber of Heidelberg, Germany, in 1965 to marry William Brown, 63, a wealthy Arizona rancher and sports car racing buff.

Brown, through his attorney, said he leased the shapely, Auburn-haired Mrs. Leber for $3,000 a month, but that the agreement with the husband made no mention of marriage.

Brown, who said he was one of the original investors with Henry Luce in Time magazine, estimated his fortune Tuesday at $5.6 million. He claims he is the victim of a conspiracy to defraud him.

The trial opened Tuesday before U.S. Dist. Judge John C. Bowen and centered around a series of letters Brown allegedly wrote to the Lebers.

They trace the relationship between Brown and the Lebers from the time they first met at a nudist resort on the Isle of Sylt in northern Germany.

Letters Introduced

The letters were introduced as evidence by Ray Hayes, attorney for Mrs. Leber, and were read aloud by Brown from the witness stand.

The letters recounted how the Lebers, spent about a month with Brown on his yacht, in his New York apartment and later on his ranch in Arizona, and that Brown sent the money for the Lebers to fly from Germany to the Bahamas to join him on the yacht.

Brown, who lists his home address as Pittsburgh, Pa., follows the grand prix sports car racing circuit in Europe.

Other testimony Tuesday disclosed that Brown and Mrs. Leber traveled widely in Europe, at times being joined by her husband.

Mrs. Leber claims Brown proposed marriage twice.

During the early months of the friendship between the Lebers and Brown, Mrs. Leber posed for Brown in the nude for several photographs, Brown said.

Got Encouragement

Students Honor Bigger Launch That Never Was

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Grade schoolers in the Cape Kennedy area Tuesday triggered two small rockets in honor of a bigger launch that never occurred — Apollo 1.

For Tuesday was the day astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee were to have been launched. But instead of rocketing skyward in a blaze of glory to start the flight phase of America's Apollo man to the moon project, the three pilots lie in their graves.

Children Pay Tribute

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it planned no ceremony, but the children of the area, to whom the astronauts were a new breed of hero, paid tribute anyway.

With the entire grade school and some parents looking on, a group of sixth graders from Capeview Elementary School in nearby Cocoa Beach, Fla., triggered two homemade rockets — one at 9:41 a. m. and a second at 10:03 a. m.

"The first had a weak engine and only got to 1,800 feet," said Mission Director Paul Davidson, son of Maj. and Mrs. Ralph Davidson, Maj. Davidson works on the Air Force's Titan 3 program at Cape Kennedy.

The second rocket shot 2,500 feet skyward and was out of sight momentarily. It parachuted to earth successfully.

The toy rockets — each 11 inches high — were propelled by solid-fuel cartridges. When they reach their high point, a parachute deploys and brings the booster back to earth.

At Cape Kennedy, the only rocket launched by the government Tuesday was an Arcas weather rocket.

On the Saturn-Apollo launch pad where the three Apollo 1 pilots died, sections of the rocket combination came down instead of going up.

Says Rocky's Hospital Insurance Plan Fails to Meet Workers' Needs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's chief critic of hospital and medical services accused Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday of a "complete sellout" of 500,000 workers not covered by health insurance.

Sen. Seymour R. Thaler, D-Queens, said Rockefeller is prepared to introduce legislation that would provide compulsory hospitalization insurance that is "narrow in scope and a far cry from the needs of the poor working people."

Has Drafted Bill

Thaler, who said he learned the general provisions of Rockefeller's plan in advance, is sponsor of a bill that would provide compulsory health insurance that would include hospitalization, medical and surgical care. It would establish a state health insurance fund into which employers and workers would contribute a modest amount on a 50-50 basis. The fund would be subsidized by state and federal medical aid programs.

Rockefeller's plan, Thaler said, would require that compulsory hospital coverage be provided on a 50-50 basis in which workers would contribute up to 2 1/2 per cent of their earnings to a commercial hospital insurance plan.

"Rockefeller's hospital plan is a complete sell out to the coal and blue cross," Thaler said. "His sole purpose appears to be to transfer the cost of the state's medical aid program from the state to the working man."

Gets Union Support

Thaler was supported today by Raymond J. Corbett, President of the New York State AFL-CIO. "We have been supporting the compulsory health insurance plan for four years. It's part of the Democratic legislative platform this year. It looks like Rockefeller is trying to evade some of the state's medical aid responsibilities," Corbett said.

The Legislature's top Democrat, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, was reported by legislative sources as completely in support of the plan.

Up to 96 per cent of the state's workers are covered by health insurance plans and up to 78 per cent by in-hospital, medical and surgical services, according to Associated Industries of New York State. The compulsory plans are aimed at adding up to 500,000 seasonal workers to provide total coverage. The workers are employed in resort hotels, the canning industry, on farms, and similar seasonal jobs.

$250,000 Damage In Blaze at Fulton

FULTON, N.Y. (AP) — A fire believed to have originated in a boiler room wrecked a three-story building early today causing an estimated $250,000 in damage.

No one was reported injured. The building, owned by a local Masonic lodge housed a branch of the Marine Midland Trust Co. on the first two floors. Lodge offices were on the top floor.

Harold A. Fielding of Fulton, lodge master, estimated the loss. The cause of the fire was not determined.

With 31 companies represented and an attendance of over 100, the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association was guest of a new Fire Control headquarters at Golden Hill to replace the present quarters in the basement of the TB hospital building. Members of the County Association, along with Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder, had long backed the proposal for adequate facilities.

A report was received from Fred Williams, New York State Firemen's Association Legislative Committee chairman, relative to a bill which will be introduced in the 1967 state legislature and which will affect volunteer firemen.

Report on Convention

There were several visitors present, including George Lare and Joseph Brody of Orange County; President Alfred Prince, Vice Presidents Harold Kronenberg and William Bensinger and Past President George Bedick of Orange County and Albert Belle Isle, secretary of the Dutchess Association.

President Kuhar of Pioneer Engine Company of Ellenville presided.

The county convention committee gave a progress report. Further details will be announced at the March meeting which will be held in Kerhonkson March 21 when the County Association will be guest of the Kerhonkson Fire Company.

At the March meeting the Association will have a prominent speaker who will discuss the proposed suggestions from the Volunteer Firemen's Association which will be presented to the delegates to the State Constitutional Convention which will convene in Albany in April.

An invitation was extended to members of the local Association, their friends and wives to attend the Sullivan County Past President's dinner at the Concord Hotel, Kiamashia Lake, near Monticello March 19. Reservations may be made to Walter Smith, Monticello Firehouse, before March 10. The dinner will be followed by a floor show and dancing.

Secretary Fred C. Harder reported the death of two members of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association since the last meeting. The meeting was adjourned in memory of the two deceased members, Henry Dowers of St. Remy Fire Company and James Ellsworth Sr., of Port Ewen Fire Company.

Group Renewing Effort to Reach Powell Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — With one member insisting that Adam Clayton Powell be expelled from Congress, a House committee tries again today to reach unanimous agreement on lesser punishment of severe censure plus pay penalties.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., admitted after all-day sessions Tuesday that the nine-member committee's failure to conclude its deliberations was due to his desire to achieve unanimity on the recommendation which must go to the House by Thursday night.

Compromising Possible

Celler said "we may have to do some compromising," and added "I will bend over backward to get a unanimous report."

The committee plans to stay in session today until it concludes its work.

Rep. Claude D. Pepper, D-Fla., was reported the major obstacle to unanimity, contending within and outside the committee that Powell's alleged official misconduct is serious enough to warrant his expulsion from the House.

Members of the committee who tend to favor censure rather than expulsion argue that expelling Powell would make him a martyr and that he would quickly be returned to the House in the special election that would take place to fill his vacant seat.

The committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Arch A. Moore of West Virginia, said agreement had been reached on some major issues before the committee. One of these is believed to be that Powell should be seated before being punished or expelled. Members are understood to be anxious to avoid a possible court challenge of any move to expel Powell, who apparently meets anti-citizenship and ineligibility requirements of the Constitution.

Exclusion before Powell is seated would require only majority approval. Expulsion after his seating would require two-thirds approval.

Pepper told reporters Tuesday that "if a man is bad enough to be disciplined so severely, he ought to be expelled."

May Hit Salary

The current plan by supporters of the censure move is to combine the seating and expulsion which would then require a simple majority for adoption.

The matter is expected to come before the House next Tuesday. One likely part of Powell's punishment is expected to be a plan to withhold from his salary $35,000 in government funds which he is alleged to have converted to his own use.

112,000 Persons Died in Mishaps During Last Year

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents of all types killed 112,000 persons in the United States last year and remain the nation's fourth leading cause of death.

The National Safety Council, in reporting this today, said the figure was 5 per cent higher than the 1965 toll of 107,000.

The toll pushed the 1966 death rate up to 57.2 fatalities per 100,000 population, compared with the 1965 rate of 55.2. The 1966 figure was the highest since the 1953 rate of 60.1.

The previously reported record traffic toll of 52,500 deaths accounted for 3,500 of the over-all increase of 5,000 deaths.

Motor vehicle fatalities accounted for 47 per cent of the total; falls 18 per cent; fires, deaths associated with fires 7 per cent; drownings 6 per cent, and all others 22 per cent.

Disabling injuries from accidents number about 10.8 million, including 420,000 that resulted in some permanent impairments.

The council estimated economic loss from the 1966 accidents at $19.5 billion.

Hit Anti-Semitism

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP) — A community-wide 24-hour religious vigil to protest Soviet anti-Semitism began Tuesday night in this Nassau County town at the Temple Beth Shalom.

Congregation members of the Temple Sinai, Temple Beth Shalom and Friendship Baptist church took part in the interfaith services. Nassau County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson spoke.

The Rev. Thomas P. Stewart, pastor of the Roslyn Presbyterian church, said, "There was a wide spectrum of people there. I saw Negro domestics there. I know, and I saw some senior executives who work in New York City."

Booked on Two Charges

A driver was booked on two charges, police said, after the car he drove struck a parked vehicle on Broadway near East Chester Street early Tuesday night. Jay Stanley Kloss, 22, of 470 Delaware Avenue, was charged with reckless driving, and failure to keep right. City Judge Hubert A. Richter imposed fine of $10 on the latter and fined him $50 on the other charge. Timothy J. Doyle, 206 TenBroeck Avenue, was listed as owner of the parked car. Officers Albert Brown and Henry Sira investigated.

Adolf Hitler never finished high school.

Inter-American Parley Heads for Showdown

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) — The Inter-American conference headed today for its first major showdown, over an Argentine proposal to create an hemisphere military advisory group.

Backstage efforts to pigeon-hole the proposal failed. Debate was scheduled for today.

The United States, which supports the virtually doomed proposal, was reported seeking a face-saving formula to avoid a defeat.

The proposal would give life to an Organization of American States committee which exists only on paper. It would be given the military planning functions now assigned to the Inter-American Defense Board, a Washington-based organization outside the OAS framework.

Opponents argue that the committee could become the nucleus for a permanent inter-American peace force, which a number of the Latin-American governments oppose as a potential for interference in their domestic affairs.

Veto School Bond On Coast; Classes Now Held in Tents

CALIPATRIA, Calif. (AP) — What's it like to go to high school in a tent?

On the California desert, it's breezy.

Winter winds are obviously going to be a problem for the 325 students of the Calipatria Unified High School District — or "Calipat" as it's called.

Heat Is Next

Come late May, desert heat will take over. The canvas classrooms will become portable steam baths.

How did the youngsters of this Imperial Valley farming community get into such a predicament?

It began when the high school's main building — a two-story frame and stucco structure — was ruled unsafe in the event of an earthquake. Then, Feb. 14, a $1.5-million bond issue to rectify the situation failed by 27 votes.

District trustees — advised they would be personally liable for damages if an earthquake should hit — ordered the building evacuated.

State aid may produce portable classroom buildings eventually, but right now tents are the answer. Ten of them were leased from a Los Angeles firm for $5,300. These were set up Monday. The first classes moved in Tuesday.

Tents Drafty

"I don't like it too much," said Derla Wallis, 17, a senior studying journalism. "You don't know whether to take off your coat or not. The tents are drafty at the bottom and hot at the top."

A carnival atmosphere prevailed outside the classes. But no so inside the tents.

Mary Sherry, an English teacher, said of the students, "At first they were so intense that we thought their feelings were hurt about moving out of the main building. But it was just that they were trying hard not to goof off."

"We think it is something we are going to have to put up with and we are going to do the best we can," said Judy Hillock.

Miss Hillock, a 15-year-old sophomore, was apprehensive about the approach of summer, however.

"The sun beat down on the tents yesterday until they got very warm," she said.

Don Pepper Dies, Turkey Farm Owner

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — Donald H. Pepper, 45, father of Detroit Tigers' baseball rookie Dor Pepper, died Tuesday night at his home in nearby Wilton.

He was the owner of Pepper's turkey farm in Wilton.

The younger Pepper, who played for the Montgomery, Ala., Rebels in the Double A Southern League until last fall when he was called up, was scheduled to report to the Tigers' winter training camp in Lakeland, Fla., Monday. He plays first base.

Besides Don Jr., Pepper leaves his widow, two other sons, a granddaughter, his parents, a sister and two brothers.

Marathon Man Killed

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Leon Merritt, 25, of Marathon, was killed Tuesday night when the automobile he was driving slammed into a tree along Route 11, about 16 miles south of here.

Earlier Tuesday, the Chicago Tribune filed suit with the Illinois Supreme Court, requesting suspension of three of the 14 restrictions imposed on news coverage by Judge Herbert C. Paschen.

The Tribune is asking permission to make sketches in the courtroom, that names of the jury members be released for publication and that copies of the trial transcript be made available to newsmen.

Judge Paschen declined comment on the paper's suit, saying, "I haven't seen the law suit yet, so I don't know what they are suing me for."

Court Test Set On Election of Bailey to Regents

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The stage was set today for a court test on the election of Dr. Stephen K. Bailey of Syracuse University to the State Board of Regents.

Bailey, dean of the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, was elected to the prestigious educational body Tuesday as Democrats in the Senate and Assembly mustered their numerical superiority to beat back a Republican challenge.

GOP to Pursue

The GOP leadership, however, made it clear following the election that they would not let the matter rest.

The Republicans spearheaded by Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, have held that Bailey can not legally hold the post because state law prohibits an officer or principal of a university in the state to serve on the regents.

The GOP argument is that as a dean, Bailey is a "principal" of the university and thus is not eligible to set on the regents governing body of all education in the state.

With the Senate and Assembly meeting in joint session, the Democrats elected Bailey by a 104-100 margin, defeating the Republican candidate, Syracuse banker Ransom G. McKenzie.

And that vote may lead to another court test. Brydges proposed before the final result was announced that a weighted-voting system be employed whereby each senator would have 2.63 votes to one vote for each assemblyman.

The Republicans argued that because each senator represents more than 2 1/2 times as many persons as an assemblyman, the senatorial vote should count for more in a joint meeting.

Under that system, the Republicans, who control the Senate, 31-25, but trail in the Assembly with 56 members to the Democrats' 80, would have 151.53 votes to 145.75 votes for the Democrats.

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, presiding officer at the joint session, ruled against Brydges although he agreed that the joint Assembly-Senate vote was "mal-apportioned."

Matter for Courts

But, Wilson added, the matter was one for the courts to deal with or the Legislature could pass measures that would provide for weighted voting.

Assemblyman John H. Terry, R-Syracuse, a leader in the protracted struggle over selection of a new regent, said some of his constituents planned to take court action to see if Bailey could serve on the regents.

Bailey was elected to a 15-year term on the 15-member body to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Thad L. Collum of Syracuse. Collum, who has been serving as vice chancellor of the regents, will step down officially April 1. Bailey's term will begin then.

When Bailey's name was advanced in the Senate, Wilson had ruled that Bailey could be elected but could not serve simultaneously as a dean.

Bailey, informed in Syracuse of his election, said he accepted "with a profound sense of responsibility to the cause of education."

"I am only sorry my candidacy has produced attenuated political tension," he said.

Bailey's election climaxed a two-week battle on his behalf by Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's top Democrat.

MacKenzie, the GOP choice, is president of the Marine Midland Trust Co. of Central New York.

what compromises were made with Sukarno. However, political and military sources said Suharto agreed to insure that Sukarno would not be brought to trial.

There was no indication if Sukarno would remain in Indonesia or leave the country.

Face-Saving Gesture

Sukarno's statement said Suharto would have to report to him regularly on how he was using the presidential powers. But this was probably a face-saving gesture.

Following an attempt by Indonesian Communists to seize power Oct. 1, 1965, many of the coup leaders were brought to trial and some implicated Sukarno in the attempt.

Congress, Indonesia's highest legislative body, will meet March 7. It placed high on its agenda an investigation of Sukarno's activities.

Both Suharto and Foreign Minister Adam Malik had made clear that if Sukarno did not step aside they would proceed with the congressional investigation.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Ask a first-grade pupil why George Washington cut down the cherry tree and you'll get an answer that's simple and to the point.

Red Bridge elementary school in the first-graders were asked the question Tuesday. Here are some replies:

He liked cherries. He wanted to put a flagpole in its place. He liked to walk over trees that had been chopped down. The cherries were rotten. He wanted to build a city. He liked to chop trees.

the building, along with the others in Phase I of campus development, sometime in mid-April.

The Macdonald DeWitt Library will occupy the geographic center of the campus, with all other buildings in both Phases I and II being related to it and to each other in a total campus Master Plan which is most exciting, but also which will be very functional.

The Macdonald DeWitt Library is completely air-conditioned and will have carpeting throughout. Initially, only the second floor of the building will be used for direct library purposes. There will be capacity for about 30,000 volumes, with 123 student study seats, with 10 additional stations designed primarily for listening to music or other taped materials available through the library.

The first floor of the library will initially be used to house certain faculty and administrative offices, for an informal study area, and for a combined language laboratory and a dial retrieval system. In addition to the individual carrels in the language laboratory, there will be 10 individual carrels in the formal study area. Each of these carrels will be connected through a direct dial system to a library of taped programs.

May Dial Into Tape

Students sitting at any one of the carrels, by dialing a particular number from the tape library index, will be able to dial into a particular language lesson, to a lecture which has been pre-taped, or perhaps to a dramatic reading of Shakespeare, or to hear works as spoken by Winston Churchill.

As the college develops the second phase of its campus, it is expected that there will be considerable refinement of the dial retrieval system, and that a language laboratory will be developed in the liberal arts classroom building. The individual carrels now used for language instructions will become available for individual student study.

The first floor of the library will also house, on a temporary basis, the transmission facilities for the college closed-circuit television installation, as well as other audio-visual devices and learning resources.

All buildings on the campus are only for closed-circuit television research, but also for further development of the dial retrieval system.

As soon as Phase II of the college construction program is completed, the entire first floor of the library will be available for library use. The library will then, with the installation of the mezzanine on the second floor, have capacity for about 65,000 volumes, with about 330 individual study stations and 15 music listening stations.

Everyone connected with the college is very pleased to see the development of this very fine library and learning resources center, and pay particular tribute to Trustee Emeritus DeWitt for his support.

Arrest Babysitter In Po'keepsie Case

Investigation of a reported $20,000 fur-gem burglary at the home of James Efron, 42 Yates Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, led to the arrest Tuesday of Miss Hilda Branch, 26, of 24 Barclay Street, in that city.

Detective Lieut. Frank Dunlap said Miss Branch was booked by Detective Sergeant Jack Brophy and Detective William Naughton on a charge of making a false report to police. She was released pending arraignment in City Court.

On Monday, the woman who was staying with the Efron children while their parents are touring Europe, reported a man entered her bedroom carrying a weapon. The man, Miss Branch said, bound her hands and feet and then left with furs and jewelry she valued at $20,000.

Miss Branch said she freed herself, telephoned Richard Michel, 32 Seaman Road, who notified police.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor & Analyst
High-Bracket Brothers
Should Split Investment

Q "My brother and I are middle-aged and single. We both have good positions, relatively high wages and are each in the middle to high income brackets. We are conservative by nature and unbrinkening and have $30,000 to invest in tax-exempt bonds or growth stocks. Which would be more advantageous? Would you name some bonds or stocks in line with your decision?" L.B.

A I am glad that you are so well off financially. In your situation, I would split my investment about equally between tax-exempt bonds and common stocks with strong growth potential. Tax-exempts have been rising in price but still afford a high taxable equivalent yield and a secure backlog for persons in your circumstances. Growth stocks give little in the way of current return but can enhance your capital considerably over the next five to ten years.

In the tax-exempt group, I suggest State of California 4s of 1981 to yield 3.45 per cent, Boston 4 1/2s of 1981 on a 3.55 basis and State of Connecticut 3.40s of 1981 yielding 3.20 per cent. As growth stocks, I continue to like American Home Products, American Hospital Supply and Bristol-Myers.

Q "We own Hawaiian Telephone, Pacific Northwest Bell Tel., Fischbach & Moore. What other stock do you advise to serve our needs? Also what is the difference between over-the-counter stocks and those listed on exchanges?" R.F.

A You own three good stocks in my opinion. Hawaiian Telephone is expected to merge into General Telephone which is itself an excellent holding. If your objective is growth with moderate income, I suggest Texaco, which offers both these elements.

There is no intrinsic difference between OTC stocks and listed issues. The unlisted market includes the great majority of all traded securities and transactions there are by negotiation between dealer. Listed stocks are in some instances more seasoned and they are traded by auction on the floor of the respective exchanges.

High School Nears DUSO Title, Wallops Liberty, 80-65

UCCC Sets Seven Marks in 155-115 Win Over Rockland

Hanna, Ken Gilligan, Watzka Pace Victory

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Leon Hanna's 32 points, the outstanding backcourt performances of Ken Gilligan and Pete Watzka and a phenomenal foul shooting percentage were the stories last night in Liberty as Kingston High moved closer to the DUSO championship with a come-from-behind, 80-65, verdict.

The triumph over the red hot Indians was a big one because Middletown upset Newburgh to give the locals a game margin in the loss column with only some engagements against happy Port Jervis and Monticello to go.

Coach John Gilligan's cagers, in winning their 12th game in 16 starts, didn't have a picnic against the Indians. Liberty, walloped by a 110-36 count in the first meeting, had won six straight and took a 33-29 lead by halftime of this game.

Effective Press
However, the Colonials moved into their full court press in the third period and it turned the game around. With Ken Gilligan and Watzka swiping everything out the kitchen sink and with Hanna scoring 10 big points in the third period, the visitors shook loose for 22 points and a 51-42 margin at the end of the session.

The full court pressure was applied almost the entire fourth quarter and the Indians never came closer than five points. On three different occasions they were within striking range. Hanna made a basket and two free throws the first two times and Gilligan (Ken) responded with a change of direction layup to boost the margin to seven points once more.

With time running out, the KHS quintet switched to a deliberate game on offense and the home side had to foul in an attempt to get back in contention.

Clutch Foul Shooting
The winners made 17 of 20 attempts in the final eight minutes and were 30 for 38 during the evening. These charity flips were the difference in the outcome.

Hanna hit for 11 buckets and was 10 for 13 from the foul line. Ken G. put in 20 points, half of them coming in the last quarter, when the pressure was greatest. Watzka, who started in place of the injured A. J. Murphy, had eight points and directed the KHS offense in superlative fashion. In addition, he teamed with Ken G. to make the press work during the second half.

CAGE JOTTINGS—Murphy saw action in the third and fourth quarters. He injured his right wrist in the Newburgh game. . . . The Liberty swing band entertained the fans before the contest and at halftime. It's something some of the other schools, including Kingston could have. . . . The Indians shot 47 per cent in losing. They made 23 of 49 attempts. . . . There was plenty of noise in the KHS dressing room after the Middle-town-NFA score was made known. . . . Mike Derrenbacher came off the bench and turned in a good effort. His 10 points included eight of nine free throw attempts. . . . A Kingston win Friday over Port Jervis will clinch a tie. Don't look for an upset here. The Raiders are woe-ful.

Nevele Surprise Wins Feature at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lucien Fontaine drove Nevele Surprise to victory Tuesday night over a determined bid by Meadow Tarport in the featured pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The 7-year-old, owned by Gene Abbe of Ellenville, N.Y., covered the Yonkers mile in 2:06.15 and returned $68.00. Broadway Babe was third.

The track is the only harness oval currently operating in New York State.

Bialosuknia Has 42 Points

Wes Bialosuknia scored 42 points, his career high, to lead Connecticut to a 114-75 win over Maine last night and clinch the 15th Yankee Conference championship in 20 years for the UConn.

The senior sharpshooter hit on 16 of 25 field goal attempts and was 10 for 10 from the foul line, giving him 36 straight foul shots without a miss.

Bialosuknia has 564 points for the year, an average of 28.2. He needs 17 points to surpass Art Quimby's one-year total of 581. His three-year career total at Connecticut shows 1,564 points.

Connecticut closes its home season Thursday night against Rutgers. The game will be televised on Channel 8. The UConn are 9-0 in conference play and have a 16-4 mark for the season. Last night's win clinched an NCAA berth.

Hall Fame Game Is Now Sellout

COOPERSTOWN — Seats for the Hall of Fame game scheduled July 24 at Doubleday Field have been sold out. The Cincinnati Reds and world champion Baltimore Orioles are this year's rivals.

Applications have streamed in since proclamation of the traditional major league mid-summer match for the Hall of Fame Cup was made last November by Paul S. Kerr, president of the shrine.

The Cooperstown Baseball Committee announced that the supply of tickets is exhausted for the pioneer ball grounds that seat slightly short of 10,000 in grandstand, base lines and bleachers, all reserved.

There is no sale of tickets at the field on the day of the game.

Kathy Bunhauer, Belleayre Girl, Picked for Team

Kathy Bunhauer of Belleayre Ski Club was one of six girls selected for the New York State Junior racing team, following trials at Belleayre. Ten boys also were named after a 36-gate slalom and 28-gate downhill race.

Joining Miss Bunhauer in the girls' contingent are: Weezy Sheldon, Intermont SC; Debbie Reilly, Gore Mt.; Jody Kashiwa, Old Forge; Penny Northrup, Whiteface Mountain and Penny Elridge, Polar Bear.

The 10-boy contingent includes Hank Kashiwa, Polar Bear; Taro Alpi, Intermont; Rich Bourdon, Northwood; John Travis, Northwood; Michael Macielko, Snow Ridge; Robby Politi, Northwood; Bob King, Northwood; Tom Crofut, Old Forge; Bob Leonard, Gore Mt.; Bob Andrie, Northwood Jan Palmer, Snow Ridge, and David Sheeks, Glenwood Acres.

The team will compete in the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association championship Feb. 25-26 for berths on the Eastern squad. Eventually they compete in the national championships where the U.S. Olympic ski team is selected.

Northrup First

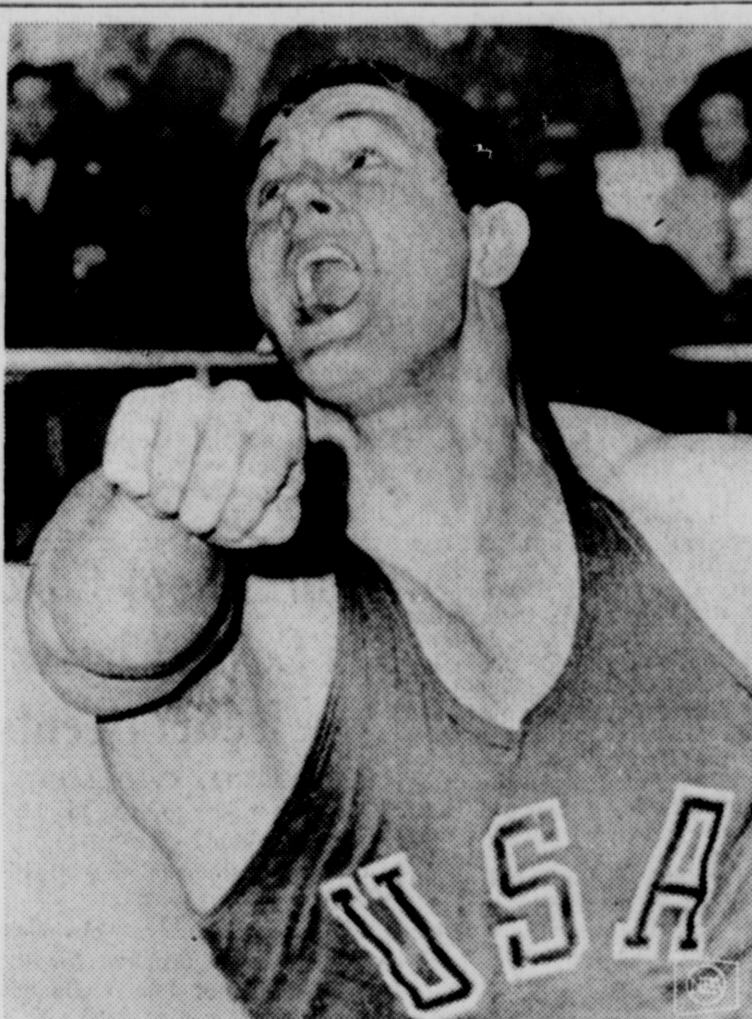

Penny Northrup of Whiteface led the girls' field in the 28-gate downhill in 1:22.62. Judy Kashiwa was second in 1:33.96. Kathy Bunhauer was ninth in the field.

The boys downhill went to Thomas Leonard of Gore Mt. in 1:07.77. Runnerup Rick Bourdon, Northwood, was clocked in 1:08.23. Jim Boyd and John Davenport of the Trail Sweepers Club participated in this event.

Leonard repeated in the slalom event, winning in 1:21.37 to edge Rick Bourdon. Karen Middleton of Stratton led the girls in 1:27.25, ahead of runnerup Jody Kashiwa of Old Forge, who was clocked in 1:27.28.

Onteora Wins, 78-58, 38 Points for Kelly

Brian Kelly, nearing the end of his high school cage career, accounted for 38 points and 15 rebounds to lead Onteora to a 78-58 UCAL victory last night at Highland.

The senior sharpshooter was only two points off his own record of 40. He brought the Indians from a 34-33 halftime deficit with a solid shooting show in the third and fourth stanzas.

Onteora hit for 18 straight markers at the beginning of the third period and Kelly had 10 of them. He closed with 26 points in the second half, more than half the 45 scored by the Indians.

Another key factor in the OCS win was the defensive effort turned in against Greg Cappilino. The Highland record breaker was limited to 14 points by the tenacious zone defense thrown by Coach Wes Kissel's club.

Onteora closes its season Friday against Pine Bush at the Boiceville court. A victory would insure the club no worse than a tie for third place.

Cousy Refuses Talks With ABA

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Bob Cousy, one of basketball's all-time greats as a player, says he's happy as coach at Boston College and isn't interested in other offers.

Cousy refused even to discuss reports Tuesday that the new American Basketball Association has made four different offers for him to either coach or serve as general manager of a club.

Senators Make 60-84 From Field; Close Tonight

Seven school and one individual record fell by the wayside last night as Ulster Community College rolled to a 155-115 win over Rockland Community in Suffern.

In notching their 15th win in 23 starts, coach Mike Perry's hoopsters came home with the following records:

1) Most points in one game—previous mark was 126.

2) Most field goals (60)—previous record was 51.

3) Most foul points (35)—previous record was 32.

4) Most total points by two teams (270)—other record was 224.

5) Most rebounds (team) in one game (110)—previous record was 75.

6) Most points in a half (75 and 80)—previous record was 36.

7) Most personal fouls (29)—previous mark was 26.

Captain Brad Meyer set an individual record with 31 rebounds. The former mark of 29 was set only a week ago by Bill Boines.

Sizzle From Start
The sizzling Senators moved on a quick, 17-8 lead and the closest the home side came was five points on two different occasions. It was a 75-53 rout at halftime and the visitors never stopped their fantastic shooting.

Ulster made 60 baskets in 84 shots for a fantastic 71 per cent average from the floor. The UCCC cagers were 35 for 50 from the foul line.

Frank Rosselli was the scoring leader with 37 points. Rod Chamlo followed with 30 and the others contributed to the mammoth point total.

The victory closed the Senators' Mid-Hudson Conference season. The locals finished third with a 6-4 record. Orange Community and Sullivan play tonight with the Generals holding a one-game lead.

Ulster closes its best season in history this evening playing in Bronxville against Concordia Junior College. The locals are 15-8 and are rock ribbed favorites to topple the hosts.

SHS Topples Red Hook, 56-52

Roger Praetorius scored 21 points to lead Saugerties High to a 56-52 non-league cage decision last night at Red Hook.

Coach Bud Smith's cagers were in front most of the way as they handed the DCSL small school champions only their second setback of the season.

Coach Smith's five starters went the distance and turned in good efforts. They are Brad Hollister, Fred Serravallo, Jack Whitaker, Praetorius and Jack Keenan.

Saugerties has a pair of DCSL engagements remaining. The Sawyers entertain Wappingers Friday and host the championship Beacon quintet next Tuesday.

Kitty Fowler Will Compete In National Alpine Races

Kitty Fowler of Kingston has been invited to compete in the United States National Alpine Championships this weekend at Missoula, Montana.

A crack skier and tennis player, Miss Fowler is attending Western State College of Colorado.

The Missoula race is the top national event of the season and invitations are limited to top ranking skiers.

Miss Fowler, who has enjoyed a banner season with the Western State College varsity, finished third in both the slalom and giant slalom in the 54th annual Steamboat Springs Winter Carnival held the weekend of Feb. 11.

Now qualified as an A racer, Kitty is now competing against the best in collegiate and national circles. Last weekend she took second place in the giant slalom in the Loveland Cup Race at Loveland, Colorado. The winner was a member of the Swiss National ski team and although Kitty beat her in one of the two runs, the Swiss girl edged her out in the combined time.

A top rated local tennis player, Miss Fowler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Jansen Fowler of Kingston.

Tyros' 14-Game Streak Is Ended

St. Joseph's Tyros' 14-game winning streak, 38-24, in a game played at St. Joseph's.

Exempt 14 Players From Herdegen Qualifier

An exempt list of 14 players, including six of seven former champions, has been announced for the 17th annual Herdegen Memorial Golf Tournament which opens June 17 at Shawangunk Country Club in Ellenville.

Under a new formula for the Ulster County amateur championship, all former champions and players who finished in the prize list in 1966 are excused from club qualifying.

The past champions who will be exempt are Leon Randall,

Country Club; George Hughes, Ricky Barthel and Clarence Raichle, Twaalfskill; and Bill Van Aken of Woodstock.

In-the-money players exempted are Bill McCullen, Dan Gaffney and Robert O. Merritt of Twaalfskill; Alvin Boice and Form Coughlin, Twaalfskill; Frank Muller, Shawangunk.

Two at large exemptions are Bill Odeneal of New Paltz and Jordan Pauker, Kingston.

The tournament dates for 1967 are: June 17, Shawangunk; June 18, Twaalfskill; Harvey Bostic of Wiltyck June 24, Woodstock; June 25, Wiltyck.

The automatic qualifiers emerging from the in-the-money list are deducted from the fixed club quotas in the 42-player field. The revised figures are: Wiltyck 13, Twaalfskill 4, Woodstock 6, Shawangunk one and at large 4.

The original 42-player field will be reduced to low 24 scorers and ties at the end of 36 holes. The top 12 players will share in the prize awards.

The 1967 prize winners will again be automatically qualified for the 1968 tournament.

Under a new rule adopted by the Herdegen committee, at large qualifying in the future will be by invitation. Charles J. Tiano, the tournament director will name a committee to make recommendations for the at large field.

The seventh champion in the field, William (Buzzy) Costello, is no longer a resident of the county and is now in service.

All entrants in the Herdegen Memorial tournament must be bonafide residents of the county.

Dukes' Victory Earns Second Straight Crown

Red Auerbach, the volatile ex-coach of the Boston Celtics and Wilt Chamberlain never quite made it together.

Instead of the rapport and mutual respect you would expect to come naturally between pro basketball's greatest coach and greatest player, there was always overt hostility.

Many will now accuse Auerbach of the supreme indignity against The Big Dipper. In his current memoirs, he leaves Chamberlain off his all-time NBA team.

Auerbach, a man not easily intimidated, makes a powerful case for his Big Five—Bob Pettit and Elgin Baylor, cornermen; Bill Russell at center and immortal Bob Cousy and Oscar Robertson in the backcourt. He is letting the world know that in his opinion Wilt Chamberlain was strictly No. 2 behind his own man Russell. You get the impression Auerbach feels Oscar Robertson is the greatest all-around player in his time. He does not even accord Chamberlain the honor of being the No. 6 man on this list of all-time greats. He leaves that to some other man.

Auerbach's honorable mention list is impressive. In addition to George Mikan, the first "big man" in pro basketball history, he lists such as Jim Pollard, Dolph Schayes, Joe Fulks, Paul Arizin, Tom Heinsohn, Jerry Lucas, Jerry West, Bill Sharman, Guy Rodgers and Hal Greiner.

Will any man come forward to rate Wilt Chamberlain the No. 1 professional in the history of the game? Or at least grant him No. 6 rating? On the basis of his 1966-67 performance we have the feeling there are thousands who rate the Big Dipper No. 1 period.

As Higgins Sees It

Charles Higgins, one of the brave band of local New York Giant football rooters, sees little likelihood that the Kingston contingent will follow suit with a Hartford, Conn. group and say goodbye for good to Allie and the boys.

"In regard to your recent column on Hartford, Conn. Giant rooters giving up on them for placing Gary Wood on the block and being picked up by New Orleans," Higgins writes, "we followers from Kingston are not giving up at this time, although the Giant management is trying its damndest to change us to be Jet fans."

"I've seen too many teams in all sports ride the crest for many years only to have the bottom fall out on them," Higgins continued. "It's rough on the loyal fans, but in my mind it is much more difficult on the players on such a team to play their best."

"In many cases it may take a sparkplug to ignite such a floundering team. I've seen it happen on numerous occasions."

"Personally, I would like to see a player of John Brodie's caliber take over the quarterback spot for our New York Giants, for several reasons."

"First of all, the Giants can well afford to pay him his high salary. He is big enough in many ways, size and drawing power to pick up New York, barring an overabundance of injuries such as befell them last year."

"Last, but not least," Higgins continues, "Allie Sherman has never developed a quarterback since taking over as head coach of the Giants. And god knows he has had some very good prospects—Don Heinrich, Lee Grosscup, Bob Timberlake and many others. They were never given a chance to make the team."

"For Sherman to go all out for rookies like Spurrier or Griese would be murder. I would rather see San Francisco's Brodie or someone of his calibre, backed up by some lesser known rookie, while we go all out for some topnotch defensive and offensive players."

"As for Gary Wood," Higgins concludes, "I would like to have had him stay, even if he were put in the defensive backfield. He has the spirit and drive we need to get the Giants going and keep them going."

Chicago Cubs

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PITCHING—The wind in Chicago isn't quite bad these days. Leo Durocher has turned realist. He doesn't have much of a pitching staff. Ken Holtzman, the rookie lefthander (11-16), showed promise last year. Ray Oulp (7-4) wanted the Phillies to trade him. Trade him they did. Brings 5.03 ERA to Chicago. Ferguson Jenkins (6-8) had fair year, splitting time as starter and reliever. Curt Simmons (5-8) may have a few wins in aging left arm. The bullpen offers semblance of stability. Bob Hendley, Cal Koonce, Bill Hands pitched with consistency year ago. Rookie hopefuls Rich Nye, Dave Dowling, Charlie Hartenstein getting an opportunity they'll never see again. RATING—C.

INFIELD—Potent offensively, though Ernie Banks (.272), at first base requires more rest these days. Lee Thomas a capable replacement. Secondbaseman Glenn Beckert (.287) and shortstop Don Kessinger (.243) improved in all departments last year. Ron Santo at third (.312, 30 HR, 94 RBI) helps carry club. He has few equals in either league. RATING—B.

OUTFIELD—Adolfo Phillips (.260), Byron Browne (.243) didn't please Leo with their defense last year. He blames it on inexperience. At least he hopes that was the reason. It's pleasure for Leo to look out to left field. Steady Billy Williams (.276, 29 HR, 91 RBI) is there. RATING—B.

CATCHING—Randy Hundley considered league's best young catcher. He hit only .236 but had 19 HR, 63 RBI as a rookie. He also caught 149 games. Don Bryant, probable backup man, better prepare for summer of bullpen work. RATING—B.

BENCH—Experienced pinchhitters in Lee Thomas, George Altman. Both, however, are lefty. Utilityman Ron Campbell for infield. Jim Stewart at home in infield or outfield but not much of a hitter. Good righthand pinchhitter needed. RATING—C.

SUMMARY—A potentially powerful club. If it could only get some pitching, Chicago could give the National League trouble. Then the wind in Chicago would pick up again. PREDICTION—Soft, mild breezes this summer, 9TH.

Marlboro Central clinched its second consecutive UCAL cage championship with an easy does it, 65-37, win last night over visiting Pine Bush.

Coach Ed Sagarese's Dukes, trying for an unbeaten league season, moved ahead of the visitors by a 31-19 halftime margin and just romped in the third and fourth periods.

High scoring Richie Faulk was limited to 12 points as Fred Monroe picked up the slack with 15. The others Marlboro starters contributed to the championship clinching.

The Dukes are now 16-1 for the season and 11-0 in circuit activity. They close their regular season Friday against visiting New Paltz.

The consecutive championships were won by different coaches. John O'Donnell, who handled the reins during 1965-66, quit and Sagarese, his jayvee coach, was elevated to the varsity position. In the jayvee tussle, Marlboro was a winner, 40-31.

Middies Upset NFA

Those glittering pennant hopes held by Newburgh Free Academy were snuffed out last night at Middletown as the Middies snapped a three-game losing streak with a 78-73 DUSO decision.

Coach Mickey Burkowski's Goldbacks were virtually knotted with Kingston for the top spot and had to beat the Middies again to remain deadlocked.

Such was not the case. With lanky Gene Gillen scoring 26 points and dominating the boards, the home side led, 33-30, at halftime and remained ahead most of the way.

With their title hopes squarely on the line, the Goldbacks rallied to move ahead for a brief instant in the fourth stanza. However, Gillen and Paul Hughes made buckets and the home club went back ahead for good.

Middletown and Newburgh are deadlocked for second and a Section Nine berth. The Goldbacks are home Friday against Monticello while Middletown entertains Liberty. If NFA and the Middies both triumph, a playoff for second place will be a necessity.

Folley The Threat

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay planned another light workout today for his March 22 fight in New York with Zora Folley, an opponent the champ describes as "so quiet" that he will be spared Clay's famous talking treatment.

"He don't go around saying how he's going to beat me or why don't I give him a chance at the title," Clay said Tuesday at his first workout since arriving in Houston, where he now makes his home.

Roosevelt, AHS Win

Rinaldi Scores 44 To Set DCSL Record

Rich Rinaldi shattered the DCSL scoring record for the third time this season with 44 points in leading Roosevelt to a 106-62 win last night at Wappingers Falls.

In another circuit test, Arlington walloped Cardinal Farley, 76-43.

Rinaldi, the leader of the high scoring Roosevelt offense, broke the record set only last Friday by Poughkeepsie's Richie Lawrence. His 43 was one better than the 42 scored by Dave White of Arlington. Before the season, the DCSL standard was 40 and it was shared by Wes Bialosuknia of Roosevelt and by Phil Spencer and Mickey SaVino of Arlington.

The deadly duo of Rinaldi and Greg Kohls accounted for 77 points. Rinaldi's 44 included 14 baskets and 16 foul shots. Kohls had 11 of each.

In getting 106 points, the Presidents broke the school record of 102. The 44 markers in the final stanza are also a record.

The Presidents, now 11-2 in league play, led by a 40-21 margin at halftime. They ripped the cords for 66 points in the last 16 minutes of action.

300 Game for Fabiano

Rolls 12 Perfect Shots in Classic

Rolling as a substitute in the Mid-City 3-Man Classic Monday night, Pete Fabiano registered the first perfect 300 score of the 1966-67 bowling season.

The 300 game followed solos of 175, 199 and 178 in a four-game set of 852.

Observers said Fabiano, a right handed bowler, tossed 12 straight balls into the 1-3 pocket on lanes 9 and 10. His previous high game was 279.

Fabiano was appearing in the Classic for the first time as a substitute for Charlie Manfro.

He owns a composite average of 186 in the Mid-City Major and 182 in the International.

Dove Leads With 27

St. John's Gains 71-64 Upset Over Syracuse

By TED MEIR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sonny Dove virtually wrapped up a postseason tournament berth for the St. John's University Redmen of New York Tuesday night.

The 6-foot-8 star threw in 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in leading the Redmen to come-from-behind 71-64 victory over eighth-ranked Syracuse in the top college basketball game of the night.

"He whipped us good," said Syracuse Coach Fred Lewis after Dove's brilliant play snapped the 12-game winning streak of the Orange and also a 22-game home court streak.

Syracuse led by seven points midway of the second half before three straight baskets by Dove cut the deficit to one and ignited a 14-4 spurt in the closing minutes for St. John's seventh straight triumph.

St. John's, now 19-3, now is expected to have the choice of playing either in the NCAA or the NIT when invitations are issued Thursday to the two major postseason tournaments.

Rick Dean's 18 points led the Orange, the only team in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action. Despite the defeat, Syracuse, also 19-3, is believed to be in line for an NIT berth.

Bialosuknia Hits 42
Connecticut clinched its 15th Yankee Conference title in 20 years and an automatic bid to the NCAA by crushing New Hampshire 114-75 at Sherrill behind 42 points by Wes Bialosuknia.

Villanova, 15-8, boosted its hopes for an NIT bid by upsetting Providence 55-52 on the Friars' home court. Jimmy Walker, Providence star, was held to only five points compared to his 29.1 average as the Wildcats chalked up their eighth victory in nine starts.

Dayton, Boston College and Chicago Loyola, other tournament hopefuls, won. Dayton, now 20-4, pulled out an 80-79 road victory over Miami, Fla., on Glinder Torain's two free throws in the last 14 seconds. The Hurricanes had wiped out a 20-point deficit to lead 79-78 with 49 seconds on the clock.

The Loyola Ramblers, 12-9, also won on the road, downing Ohio University 73-70. Two free throws by Bill Baumgardner in the last second after he had stolen a Bobcat pass sewed it up. Boston College, 16-2, breezed over Boston University 74-66 at Newton, Mass.

Big Ten Upsets

Percy Russell Leads With 608

Percy Russell sandwiched 220 and 201 around a 183 middle effort to lead Ferraro Booster keggers with a 604 series. Runnerup Ted Wiands posted 243, 201-592. Wilson Stoutenburg rolled 545, Joe Koskie 203-542, Bill Leonard 203-551, Mark Nezhik

Adjourn Trial Of Ferraro to Thursday at 10

An adjournment in the trial of the indictment charging Peter Michael Ferraro, 26, of Sterling Street, with larceny and assault was taken Tuesday afternoon until 10 a. m. Thursday due to the Washington Birthday holiday today.

Prior to the adjournment, on motion of defense counsel Elmer Nathan, a malicious mischief charge which was included in the indictment was severed. Nathan argued that the malicious mischief charge was a separate charge and not connected with the alleged larceny at the Vineyard Restaurant on Fair Street. It is alleged that Ferraro, while at police headquarters in city hall after his arrest, damaged the detention room and plumbing fixtures at city hall. County Judge Raymond Severance granted the motion for severance.

The trial continued on the remaining charges with Assistant District Attorney Robert A. Mackinnon continuing the case for the prosecution. An early adjournment was taken to allow time to produce a fingerprint expert Thursday.

Others Called
Three criminal cases were later called in court for arraignment. They are:
Ronald N. Lunan, charged with third degree burglary; unlawful entry and petit larceny. William Harp, assigned counsel, moved the case be disposed of under the Youthful Offender Law. Granted.

Albert Donald Barnhart, charged with third degree burglary; unlawful entry and petit larceny. The charge arises out of an entrance to an Abel Street building by the 16 year old boy, Jan. 23, 1967. The case was adjourned to Feb. 24 to permit defendant to attempt to secure an attorney. Remanded to jail.
Antonio Oyola Santiago, Highland, charged with second degree assault and malicious mischief, was arraigned and Edward Greene was assigned. The case was adjourned to Feb. 28 at 2 p. m. Defendant remanded to jail. The assault allegedly grows out of a knife stabbing on Jan. 14, last. The malicious mischief charge grows out of the alleged damage to the car of the victim. District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca appeared for the prosecution on the arraignments.

Intrusion Charged
Luis Cruz, 32, of 46 Boulevard, was charged Tuesday afternoon with unlawful intrusion. Police said he had entered and slept in a Franklin Street laundromat. The arrest was by Officers Thomas Coffey and Edward Coughlin. City court hearing was today put over to Thursday.

Coldest Air For Weekend, Is Outlook

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:
Cold weather is indicated, with temperatures averaging several degrees below normal during the period. The coldest weather will occur Friday and Saturday.
Daytime temperatures are expected to range from the teens to the lower 30s, with nighttime lows from zero to 15 above and below zero weather likely Friday and Saturday night.
Precipitation is expected to average from one quarter to one half inch in the western sections and around a half inch or more in the eastern counties. Snow is indicated Thursday and again Sunday. Flurries are likely in the central and western counties throughout the remainder of the period.

Orders Army Help

Mao Indicates Concern With China's Harvest

TOKYO (AP) — Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tung has ordered Red China's army to "exert every effort" to help in the spring planting, indicating concern that the turmoil of Mao's purge may cut the crop.

Peking's official New China News Agency today reported a letter from the Communist party Central Committee which said, "Units of the People's Liberation Army stationed locally and the military organizations at all levels should exert every effort to support and help with the work of spring cultivation."

Mao's concern with the harvest — whose success or failure could markedly affect his struggle to regain control from President Liu Shao-chi's forces — also indicated that internal dissidence has eaten away at the rural cadres responsible for production by the nation's 500 million peasants.

"Landlords, rich peasants, counter revolutionaries, bad elements and rightists are absolutely not permitted to be untruthful in word or deed, to sabotage production or the unity among the working people or to incite factional disputes," the letter said.

However, Mao promised forgiveness to opponents who acknowledge their errors and atone for mistakes by hard work. The offer marks the extension to the countryside of a policy spelled out earlier this week of keeping repentant opponents in their administrative posts.

"The party's Central Committee believes that the overwhelming majority of cadres at all levels in the rural people's communes are good or at least fairly good," the letter said. "Those comrades who have made mistakes should also make energetic efforts in the spring cultivation so as to make good deeds."

Killed by Machinery

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Richard A. Cole of Syracuse was killed today when heavy machinery he was unloading at an air conditioning firm fell on his head, police said.
Cole was employed by the Bolland Rigging Co. of Syracuse. Cole lived at 675 N. Clinton Street.

Vote Thins Out Seat Edge in Indian Balloting

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's once invincible Congress party suffered a series of defeats from both the left and right in early returns today from the week-long national elections.

Despite the early reversals, the Congress party was expected to retain control of the lower house of Parliament. But it appeared to be heading for a sharp reduction in its 234-seat majority.

Within hours after the last polls had closed, a Communist-led front had won control of Kerala State again by a much larger margin than expected, the right-wing Hindu Jan Sangh party held a big lead in the Delhi Federal Territory, 13 state ministers from the Congress had been defeated, and two of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Cabinet members were trailing in their races for Parliament.

The Congress, facing the electorate nationally for the first time without the leadership of Jawaharlal Nehru, made its worst showing in the southern state of Kerala. There a seven-party coalition led by the pro-Peking Communists won control of the state assembly.

With 77 of the 133 assembly seats decided, the Left Communists had won 30 and the Congress only 6, far below its 1965 election showing when it got 36 seats and 33 per cent of the popular vote.

Even more surprising was the strong Jan Sangh showing in the Delhi territory, where it held commanding leads in six of seven parliamentary races and was closing the gap in the seventh.

In the 1962 national election the Congress won all five of the seats then allotted to the territory. The Jan Sangh also was giving the Congress trouble in numerous races along India's northern belt, which has been swept by a wave of Hindu revivalism that gained momentum in recent months from the agitation for a ban against cow slaughter.

Unhurt in Crash, Is Given Summons

Edward J. Terwilliger, 38, of Foordmore Road, Kerhonkson, escaped injury at 9:05 p. m. Tuesday when his car collided with guard rails and a fence off Route 209 about three-tenths of a mile south of Accord. State Trooper James Curtis cited Terwilliger for failure to keep to the right. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Abram D. Smith, Town of Rochester.

According to Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes of the Ellenville State Police, Terwilliger was driving south when he reportedly fell asleep and the car crossed to the northbound lane and hit the guard posts and fence.

Give Freedoms Award to Vietnam Victim

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — A young soldier killed in action in Vietnam has been awarded the highest honor of the Freedoms Foundation.

The posthumous honor — the foundation's George Washington Award — was to be presented today to the parents of Pfc. Hiram D. Strickland, 21, Graham, N. C. The award includes a $5,000 check.

He was one of 34 persons receiving the top honors of the foundation, founded 19 years ago to further the American way of life.

After Strickland was killed Feb. 1, 1966, an unmailed letter was found among his possessions that told of his feelings as he headed into battle.

It said in part: "Don't mourn me mother, for I'm happy I died fighting my country's enemies."

Geneseo Man Is Crushed to Death

GENESEO, N. Y. (AP) — Lawrence M. Scully, 71, of Geneseo, was crushed to death Tuesday when the body of his dump truck fell on his head at his farm.

Scully was working on the hydraulic lift supporting the body when it malfunctioned causing the body to fall on him, authorities said.

His farm is on Groveland Road.

Enemy Mortars Cause Heavy GI Casualties

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. company of infantry suffered heavy casualties in two Communist mortar attacks during the night as it was setting up a base camp in the central highlands facing the Cambodian border. U.S. military headquarters announced today.

Tanks Beat Off Attacks

A spokesman said the company of 178 men of the U.S. 4th Infantry division was hit by heavy mortar shelling 41 miles southwest of Omut City. The term heavy casualties usually means a unit is no longer an effective fighting force.

Four 4th Division tanks in the same area beat off a close-quarter attack by Communist suicide troops who climbed aboard the armored vehicles. The tank crews raked each other's turrets with machine-gun fire to clear off the Communists, and U.S. headquarters said the tankmen sustained no casualties and only light damage to three tanks.

It was the first time reported in the Vietnam war that the enemy climbed onto tanks although this was a tactic frequently employed by the Communists in the Korean war.

Ground Action Brisk

Ground action continued brisk with the U.S. military command reporting 160 enemy killed in clashes across the country. U.S. Marines in the northern provinces accounted for more than half of the enemy toll, reporting 88 Communists troops killed in scattering fighting. This included 48 killed in Operation Deckhouse 6 on the coastal plains 38 miles southeast of Quang Ngai City.

To the south, waves of high-flying U.S. B52 bombers pounded War Zone C in four raids against the major Viet Cong jungle stronghold where its national headquarters is believed located close to the Cambodian border. The big Stratoforts, each unloading up to 30 tons of explosives, hit at base camps and fortified positions in Tay Ninh Province in successive raids from midnight until dawn.

There was no official explanation for the intensified bombing which in the past has sometimes preceded a major ground campaign. U.S. headquarters today announced the end of Operation Gadsden in C Zone and said 161 Communists had been killed since Feb. 2.

In air action over North Vietnam, American pilots kept up their assault on Communist truck convoys Tuesday for the second day. Fliers claimed 17 more supply vehicles knocked out at the Mu Gia Pass, bringing their two-day total to 103 destroyed or damaged.

About 210 U.S. fighter-bombers flew 70 missions against North Vietnam Tuesday. Pilots reported destruction of eight other trucks in a convoy 53 miles northwest of Dong Hoi, 10 cargo barges eight miles south of Vinh and six boxcars on a siding 37 miles southwest of Thanh Hoa.

The U.S. spokesman said the big convoy caught near the Mu Gia pass Monday and Tuesday was blocked by a landslide and the destruction of several bridges caused by earlier raids. He said a lone North Vietnamese working to clear the landslide continued to operate a road grader all through the 10 hours of Monday's raids.
